YOUNG AND ALIVE

It's 1971 . . .

Burn a candle . . . yell the Arkansas . . . eat Wednesday's chili pie . . .

It's not enough.

Wear a "mean green" button . . . drop in at the Hitching Post and the library . . . joke with the teacher, but study for the test . . . applaud at assemblies and plays . . . go to some basketball games . . .

Still not enough.

Carry a lot of books around . . . shiver in the arcade on the way to class in November . . . wear gold and green from time to time . . . sign a spirit petition . . . do busy work in study hall . . . go to a club party . . . go to a dance . . . go on a trail ride . . . go on a field trip . . . have your picture made for the WRANGLER . . . make some book reports and write some themes . . .

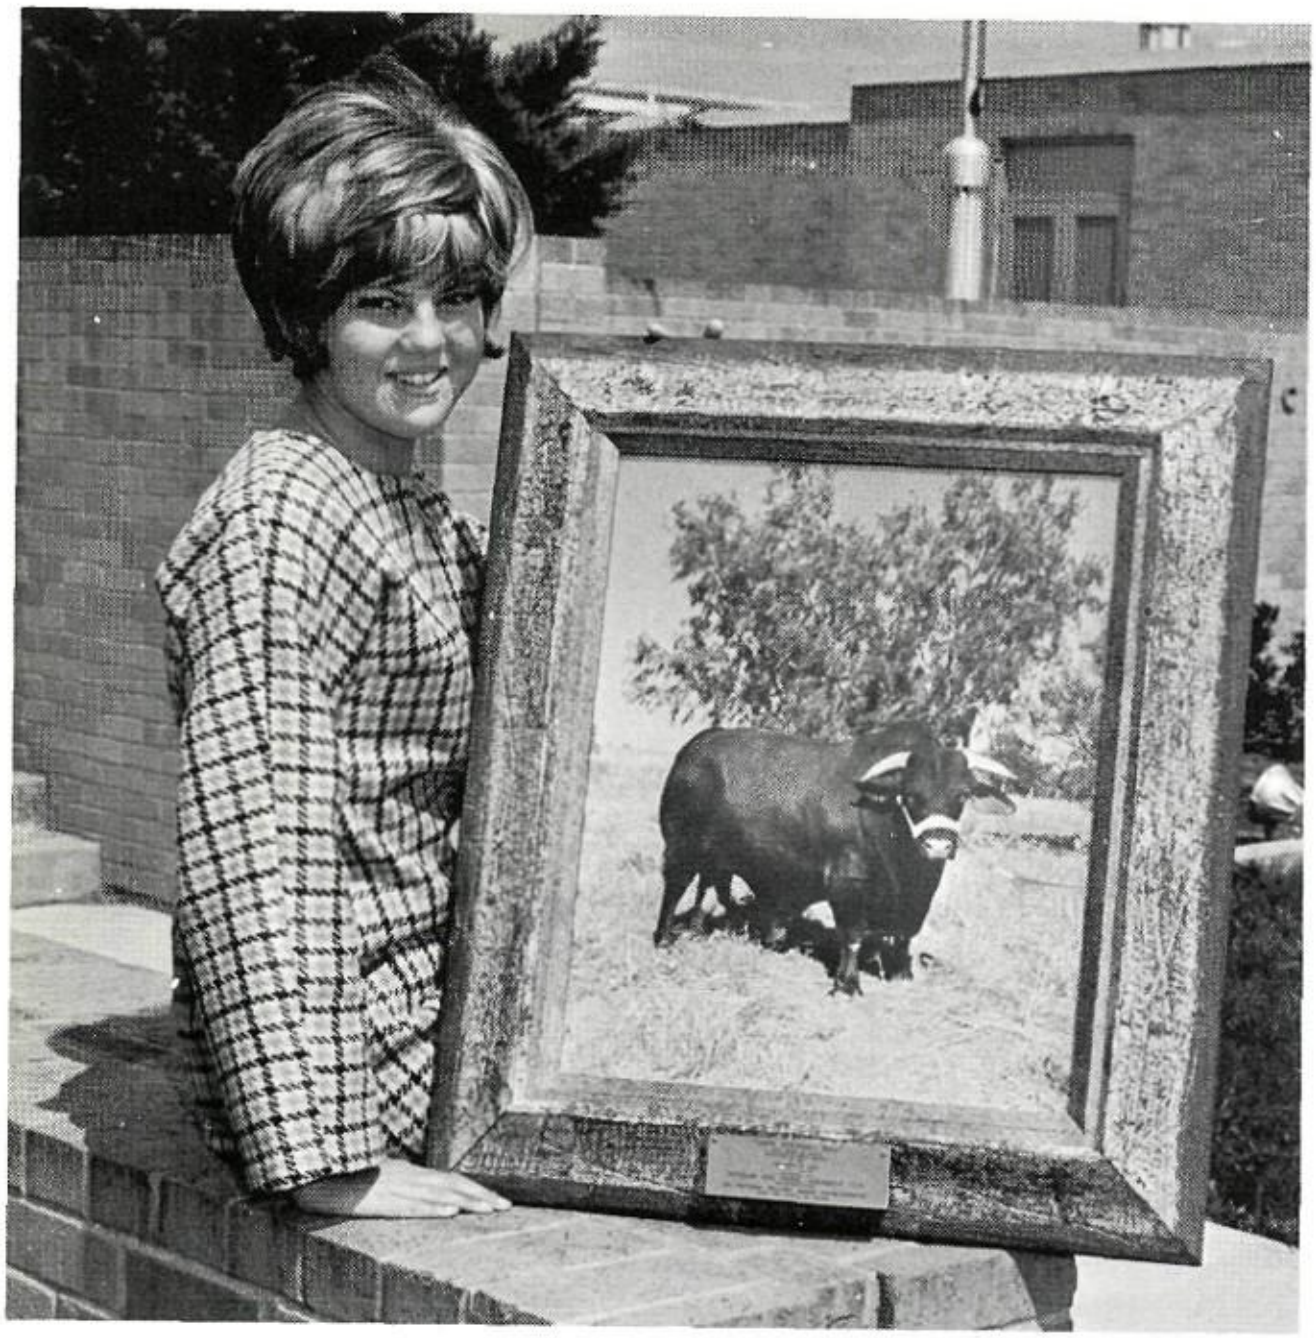
So far, so good.

Brag about the Bellamy award . . . suffer through mid-term finals . . . worry about pollution, elections, Viet Nam, the draft, money, college, a job, a date, your hair . . . go steady . . . break up . . . act silly . . . gripe a little . . . laugh a lot . . . cry some . . . grow up . . .

Okay you've done it.

This is your year and you've lived it . . . It's 1971 and you're

Young and Alive.



Young and Alive . . .

It's young and alive . . . and the gold and greenery grow all year long

Rumors had been spread for many years about the building of a new high school. We can remember watching with excitement at the rising of the new buildings. The noise and confusion of the construction became part of our daily lives. We climbed on the piles of dirt and ran through the unfinished buildings. We laughed and talked about the new school. A school right around the corner—not old Harlandale, but a new—brand new building which we could call OUR school.

We can remember when McCollum first opened its doors. We were full of anticipation and awe as we toured the corridors during open house. How beautiful everything seemed—how large and grand—a person could get lost just walking from the next wing. What a beautiful place this school was!

As we approached adolescence McCollum became more on our minds. We wanted to be part of McCollum. We mimicked how the older kids acted. We went to football and basketball games, learned songs, read annuals in expectation of the day in which we would become McCollum Cowboys.

Finally, after what seemed an eternity, we approached the door to the high school—our high school. We can remember the butterflies and the half-bitten fingernails. The awesome excitement of finding new classes and learning new schedules. The sick feeling when we realized we were in the wrong room at the wrong time. But also there was the security and the happiness and the friends which were so much a part of our lives.

We have watched the school grow and we have grown with it. Now, as we leave, it will remain for our little brothers and sisters and some day our children to share the joys we shared at this high school—our high school—McCollum High.

ACADEMICS

Let's look at the basics of McCollum High School . . . the ole nitty gritty . . . the backbone. Let's strip the frills and the fluff:

Take away the clubs, the band, the pep-squad, the student publications . . . take away the dances, the pep rallies. Take the shop equipment, the bunsen burners, the air-conditioned auditorium . . . take even the books . . . You would still have a school. You would have teachers and you would have learners . . . the basics. That's what education is all about.

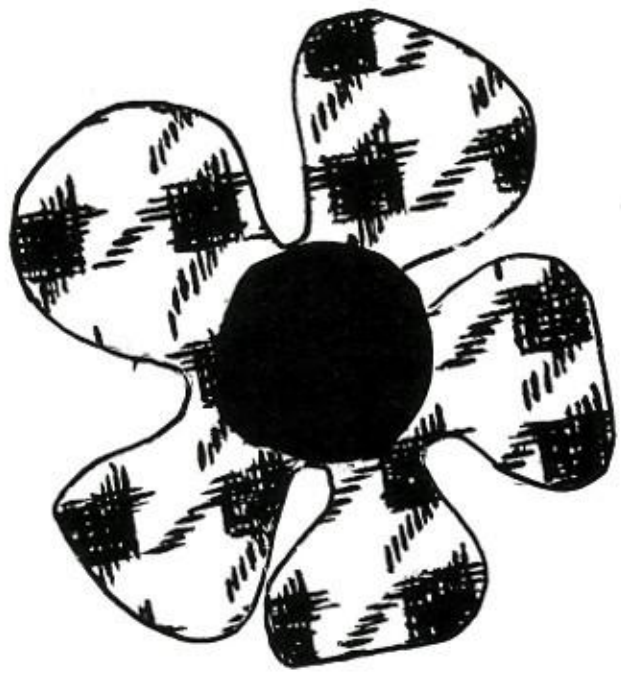
Those Who Teach

Lesson plans in by Friday . . . grade 5th period's papers . . . I can't let that boy in 3rd period fall asleep again . . . So many things to do . . . Isn't it 3:30 yet? . . . Do I remember saying I wanted to be a teacher? . . . Maybe I had a reason . . . Wait, he's getting it . . . he understands . . . he knows what I mean! . . . I taught him something he didn't know before! . . . Yes, I remember saying I wanted to be a teacher! . . . I am a teacher!



Close-up of the Principal

Mr. Pat Shannon was born in Tilden, Texas. He attended Southwest Texas State College in San Marcos. Through the years he received positions in several area high schools and became principal of McCollum in 1967.

His most notable years until that time were the nine spent as coach at Thomas Jefferson High School. While he was there, seventy-four boys received football scholarships and more boys from Jefferson were playing major college football than from any other high school in the country.

Other successes in his coaching career included nine football district championships, a two-time All-American, a number one Pro draft choice, and more boys playing in the Texas High School All-Star game than any other San Antonio coach.

Mr. Shannon is active in community affairs. He is president of Phi Delta Kappa, national honorary education fraternity, retains membership in all his professional associations, is a Mason and a member of Perfect Union No. 10 AF & Am, Scottish Rite Consistory, Alzafar Shrine.

Mr. Shannon is a man of strong convictions. He knows exactly what he believes in and why. His convictions and his firm stand on matters of school policy and discipline, are not always easy and not always popular, so he frequently finds himself on the firing line.

He's youthful . . . he's vital . . . he's an exceptionally strong administrator. Some of the thinking that makes up the man that is William Patrick Shannon is revealed in the following interview, taped in November. Representing the Wrangler is Jeanette Gonzalez.

Jeanette: We know you were a successful football coach before you became principal, and it takes more than luck to win games and turn out top ranking collegiate and pro players. What was your formula?

Mr. Shannon: Thank you for remembering my days as a football coach. It was without question the most important thing in my life for many many years. I've often called it the "jealous woman" in my life. It completely dominated me. I loved what I was doing, let absolutely nothing interfere with it, had a great desire to succeed, and, of course, had great people to work with. It is difficult to put this down in a few words. I think we could probably visit about it for days. As a start, let me say that whatever success we may have enjoyed resulted from a team effort from our coaches and players alike. It was a "we" and "our" endeavor (not "I" and "my"). We made every effort to become as knowledgeable in the field as it was possible to be. It was most important to us, and our boys never questioned this, and as a result, to some degree, it became important to them. We kept what we were doing simple and purposeful. We played the best teams in the state of Texas because we felt that we could never be the best without having competed against the best.

Jeanette: Does this same formula apply to leading a high school? What is your philosophy of education?

Mr. Shannon: Yes, I think it does. I've never had any desire to be the second best principal in the country. I've always had great respect for the successful man who knows what he wants to do and does it. Being first has been an obsession in my life, and I enjoy what I'm doing. I miss, of course, the good things about coaching, but not the losing. However, being principal is becoming most enjoyable and rewarding. It's another race to run. You ask my philosophy of education. It's very simple. I believe the basic responsibility of all parents is to get their children to the point where the child can get along without the parent. Inasmuch as the child stays in school most of his or her waking hours for 12 years. I feel the school must assume a large share of that responsibility. I feel that it hurts anyone far more to get something undeserved than it does to have something taken away. I also feel that a person is largely as good as he is forced to be, and just as sorry as he is allowed to be. Hopefully, this has given you an idea of my philosophy of education. I believe in earning what you get. I also believe that the academics are by no means the only important thing we teach in school. For example: You can take the National Merit finalist who respects neither his father nor his mother, nor the rights of others, nor the laws of the land, and he is a failure any way you slice him up. So I feel there are many things, not in the textbooks, which we are obligated to teach our young people.

Jeanette: We understood that in Lead, South Dakota you participated in a discussion in which you brought out the point that everyone should stand behind America whether right or wrong. Would you like to comment on this discussion?

Close Up . . .

Mr. Shannon: Yes, I would like to stand on that statement. I said I was for America right or wrong, and i believe that. My mother loved me when I was good and when I was bad. But when I was bad she corrected me. I've talked to no one who has found a place in which he preferred to live over America. If he does find a place, then I would be more than happy to help him pack. I feel that there are some things wrong with America, but I think America is by far the greatest place in the world to live. The many freedoms that we enjoy were brought about by the democratic process which is sometimes slow, tedious, and uncomfortable. But the quickest way to lose these freedoms is to change laws quickly and arbitrarily. Yes, I will repeat, I am for America RIGHT OR WRONG.

Jeanette: When you find yourself in the middle of controversy, such as in South Dakota, is there one main idea or thought that helps you get through these periods?

Mr. Shannon: It is a mental agility drill for me; it's a contest; it's competition. I had reasons for and belief in every statement I made. I felt perfectly comfortable in Lead, 1500 miles from home. I've been in competition before, and it didn't bother me at all. I felt that I had strong topics, strong subjects and strong principles. I felt completely confident that I could give my views and explain why and, quite immodestly, I would say I enjoyed it. Defending what I truly believe in, regardless of the price, has always been most gratifying to me.

Jeanette: As a result of the Bellamy Award, McCollum will receive national attention on October of 1971. What are some suggestions for living up to the Bellamy criteria?

Mr. Shannon: Let me remind you that we demanded and stressed excellence long before we were honored with the Bellamy Award. We will never use the Bellamy Award as a "whipping boy" or a reason for being the best. We had every intention of striving to make McCollum High School the best school in the country four years ago–long before we had heard about the Bellamy Award. We hope to continue our desire and stress for excellence and certainly be deserving of the Bellamy Award.

Jeanette: Would you like to state your views on the 18 year old vote and how high schools help prepare young people for the voting responsibility?

Mr. Shannon: Quite frankly I am opposed to giving the 18 year olds the right to vote. I do not think that they are emotionally prepared to handle the responsibilities of voting at this point. They have not made a political contribution to our country at this age. They have not earned the right to determine which course our country should follow. I feel their parents and grandparents have made so many great contributions to our country and are in a better position to do so. You ask what our schools do to help our people become more mature and more reliable and more able to determine what our country needs and does not need. There is certianly a teaching responsibility in getting them more involved in what our country is doing, helping them realize that change for change's sake is not the answer. Certainly a stress toward Americanism and pride in America would be a step in that direction. I hope you understand my viewpoint. I do not feel that 18 year olds are mature enough to handle voting.

Jeanette: Student unrest has become a major problem in many high schools and in colleges all over the country. It has reached major proportions to the extent of riots, strikes and killings. If you were a college president, how would you work on solving this problem?

Mr. Shannon: We're certainly presumptuous to place me in the position of a college president and it is real easy for someone to sit in the stands and say what he would do if he were the quarterback on the field. I think no one has the right to keep anyone else from obtaining an education and certainly anarchy on college campuses has done just that. I do not think that we have had a riot, strike, burning or killing on our college campuses that has not been caused by a college president who didn't fall short in masculinity and courage. I think if he had taken a courageous stand, violence would not have occurred. I would certainly take a hard stand on those who might dissent. The right to dissent is no greater than the right to conform. I would not tolerate, certainly, someone's taking over the president's office or burning buildings if I could prevent it.

Jeanette: How do you feel about draft card burning?

Mr. Shannon: I think it should be a felony offense. There should be a possibility of revoking citizenship.

Jeanette: In your career as a coach and principal is there any incident other than the Bellamy Award that has given you a special sense of achievement?

Mr. Shannon: Certainly my thirty years in the teaching and coaching profession has given me much personal satisfaction and many high moments. The Bellamy Award has been one of those and one that I cannot and would not take personal credit for, because it has been a team effort all the way. It certainly has been one experience I will always treasure. But I would remind you that this has been a combined team effort and I want everyone to understand that.

Jeanette: What character traits do you most admire in others?

Mr. Shannon: The first quality that I always look for in people is loyalty. I would place loyalty above all others. I look for that in choosing the people that we're going to work with at McCollum. I would expect that of any friend. There are many admirable qualities but most important, in my opinion, are loyalty. honesty, compassion, dedication, character and depth.

Jeanette: Drug abuse is a national problem. Some authorities say that drug users are simply trying to escape the pressures of society. What is your advice to people who want to escape, by whatever means, from the hectic problems that are in the 20th century world?

Mr. Shannon: You said that some authorities feel that drug users are simply trying to escape from the pressures of society. I think that is a normal reaction. We all need to escape or attempt to escape. Different things work for different people; certainly religion has helped, as has self-esteem and the realization that your first responsibility is to yourself and secondly to those lives you've touched. I do not think anyone could salvage me, but I think that people could help me salvage myself. I think all the psychiatry in the world would be of no consequence if the person being counseled did not have a desire to change his status or his state of existence. So, I do not think it's a condemnation to want to escape the pressures of society because we all suffer from that desire. I'm sure we all agree that drugs are a damaging method of escape.

Jeanette: Grooming standards at McCollum are high. People who have an opportunity to view students in other schools and all over the city say that McCollum students are the best looking young men and women they have ever seen. Does grooming affect education? If so, how?

Mr. Shannon: In my opinion it certainly does. There is a high correlation between the way we dress and the way we act. I have yet to find the poorly groomed person who has good self-discipline. Self-discipline is certainly fundamental to success. I think we owe it to the young people who attend McCollum High School to see that they present a wholesome, clean appearance. I think it will help them in many ways. They will develop more self-esteem. Upon graduation they will be more acceptable to employers. If you were to drive by McCollum High School and see the lawn needed mowing and windows needed to be replaced or the building needed painting, you would say "Someone is not taking good care of McCollum High School". By the same token, if you were to walk down the halls and see all forms of dress and undress all lengths of hair, poorly groomed people, you would also say "Someone isn't doing a very good job at McCollum". I have no desire for McCollum High School to be the second best school in the country. I want it to be the best in every way and certainly I am proud of the fact that we are the best groomed, the best looking, and, I think, the best student body and faculty in the country, in every way, and I am proud to be here.

Jeanette: Do you have any prediction of the future of McCollum High School?

Mr. Shannon: I have no crystal ball. I can only say this. As long as I'm fortunate enough to be here, I feel that we will all work together and do everything possible to keep McCollum the real fine institution that it is. It's like holding on to a pole . . . you either go up or you go down, you do not stay in the same place. We shall continue to make an effort to improve. We can not stay where we are. We have to try to improve. We will continue to strive for excellence. I think McCollum has a bright future . . . it will be a bright spot in the educational field.

Jeanette: Are there any other comments you would like to add?

Mr. Shannon: Yes, I think McCollum is a wonderful high school. It was a traumatic experience for me to leave a district with which I had been connected for 24 years. I have come to love McCollum; I enjoy my association with the many fine people here and the wonderful student body. It was certainly a good move as far as I'm concerned. I shall continue to do everything possible to see that McCollum remains the best. I am not conducting now, and never have conducted a popularity contest and I'm not competing for a popularity poll. But we ARE going to continue to do what we think is best for the student body at McCollum High School and for the community. This is my pledge to you and my challenge.

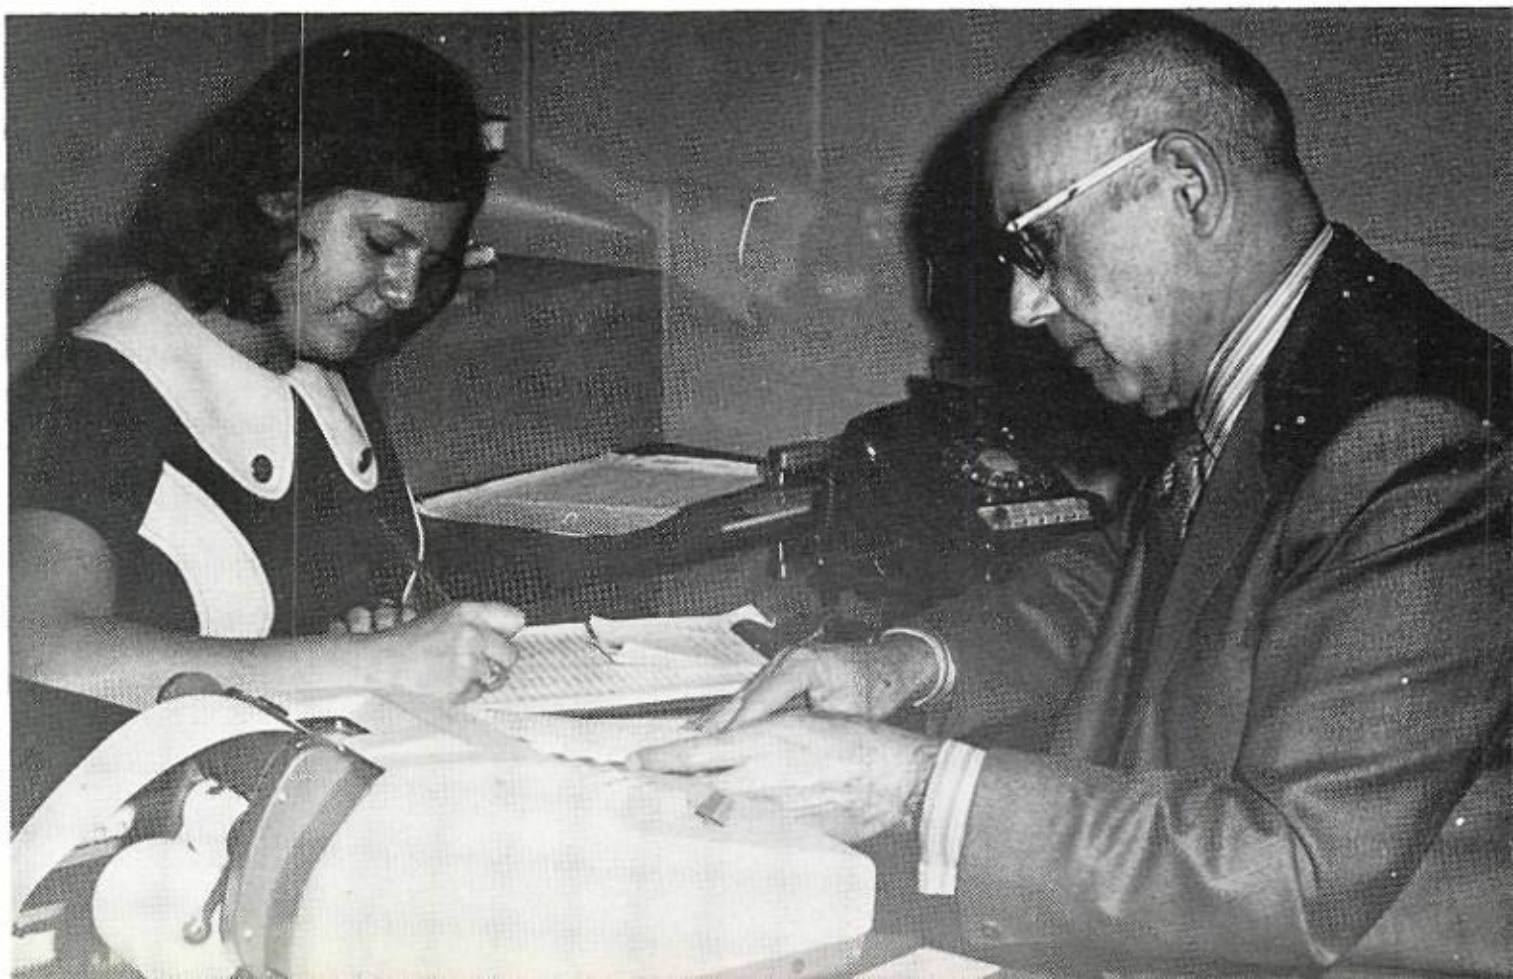
Mr. Ott Sets Up Date Book and Stashes Loot

Mr. Earl E. Ott, vice principal, is a man of tremendous school spirit and pride. He has been vice principal since the school opened and he has performed his duties remarkably well.

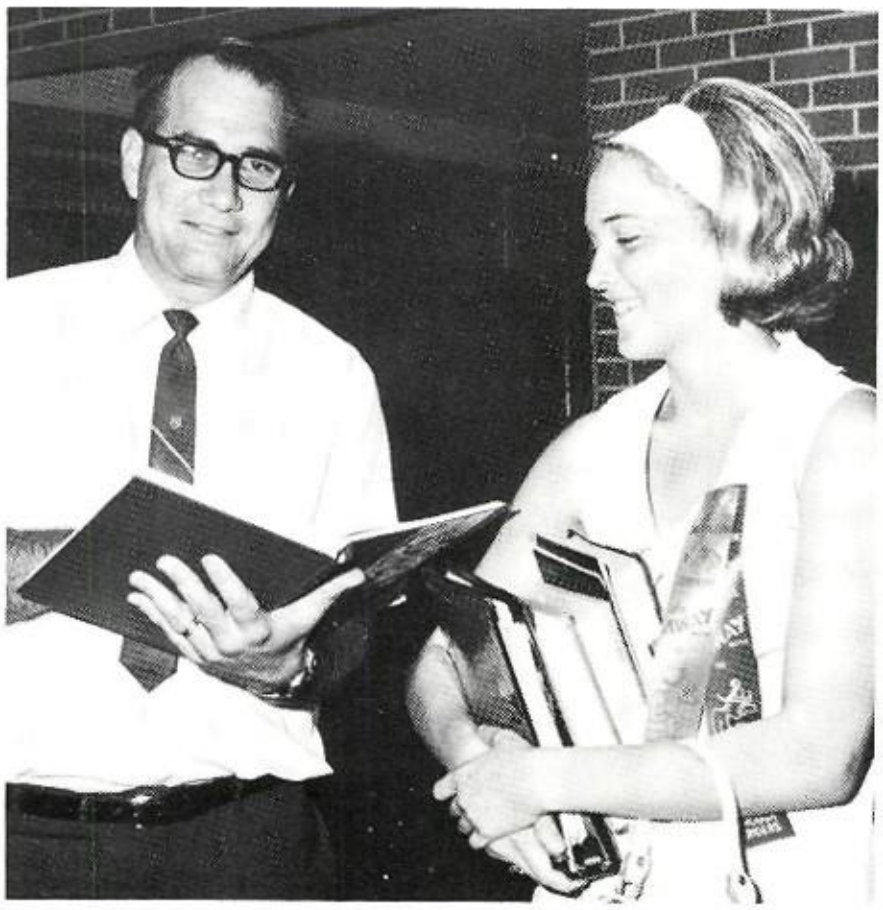
Mr. Ott has the responsiblity of taking care of the financial records of the school, its clubs and organizations. Mr. Ott also supervises the janitorial and maintenance staff, while also supervising the bookroom. He also keeps a calendar of all school events.

Mr. Ott received his Bachelor of Science from Trinity University and his Master of Education from Southwest Texas State College. He is a symbol of leadership and character which is an essential trait for any administrator at McCollum High School.

There are times when two jobs need to be done. Below: Mr. Ott checks his financial records while Deborah Dalton, student assistant, checks over the book list which was compiled by Mr. Ott.



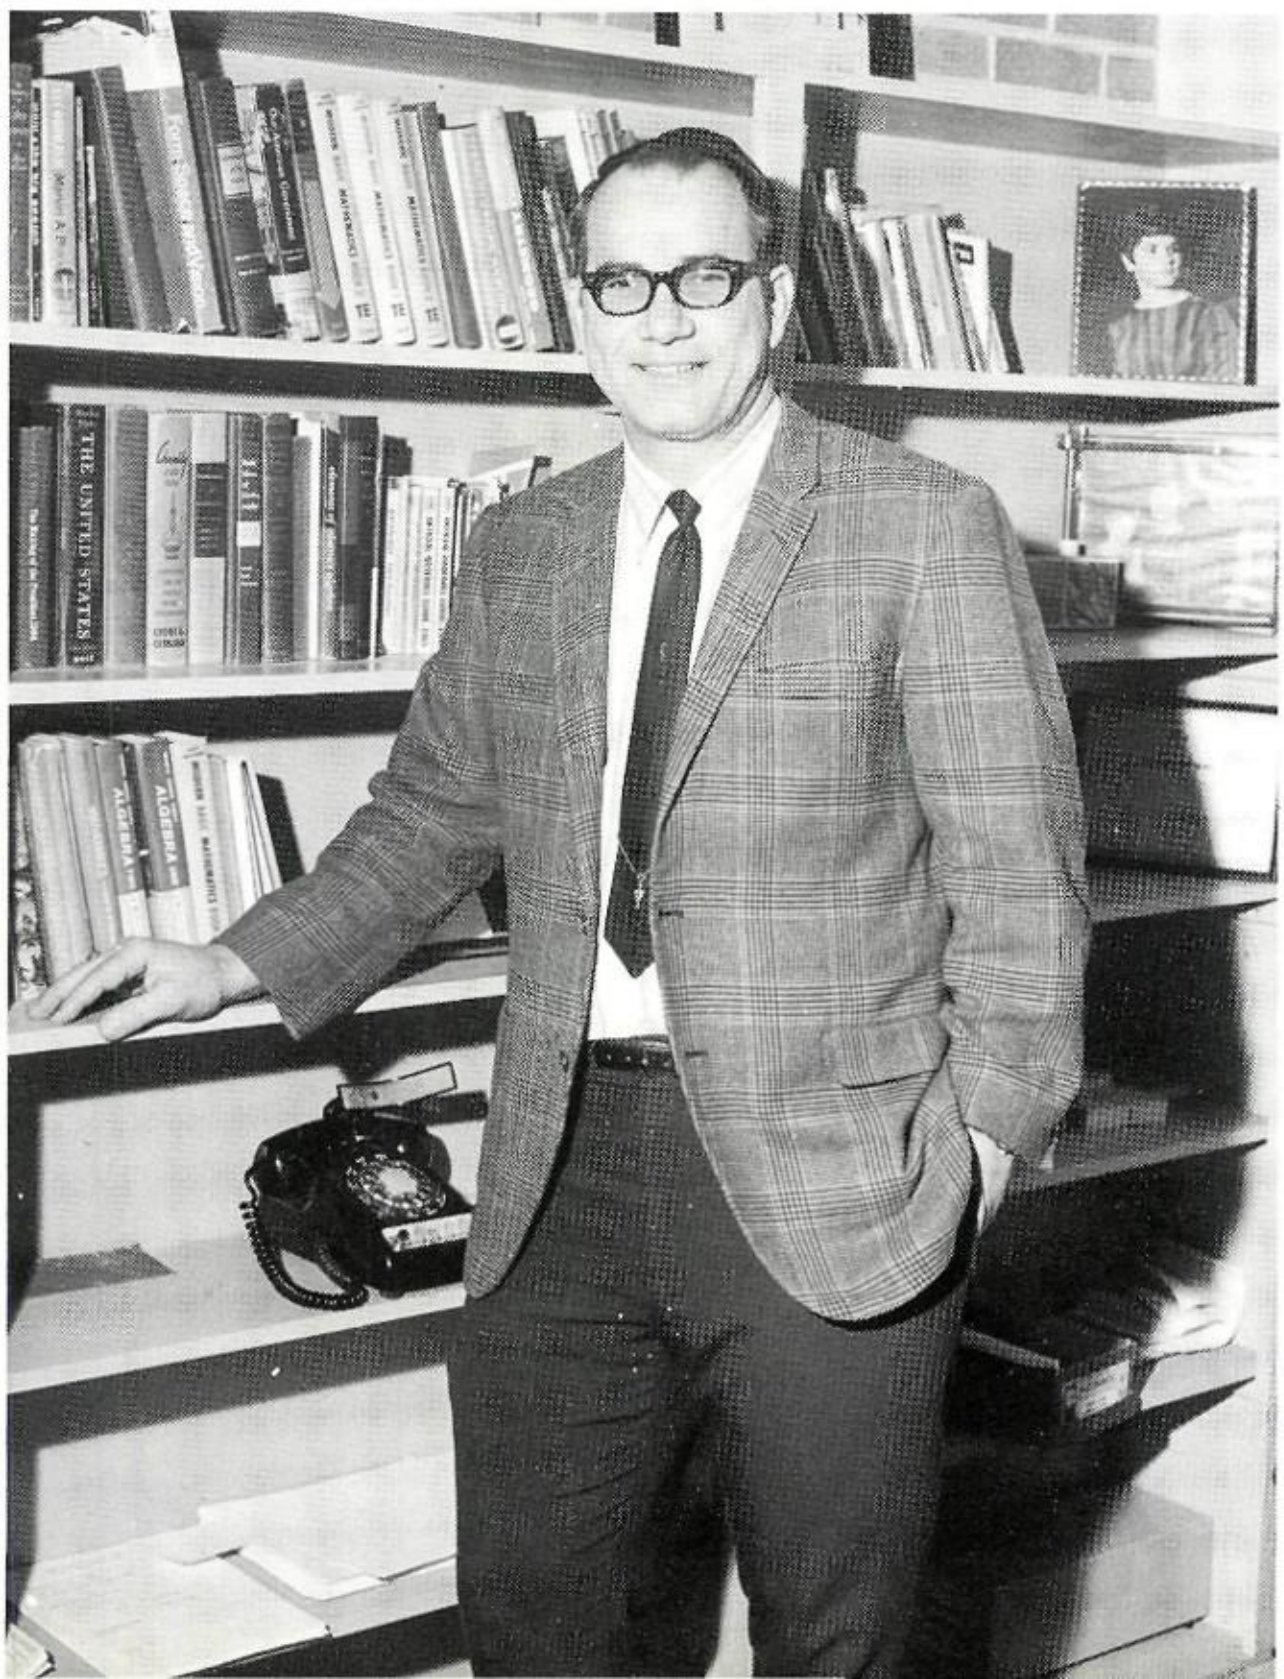
Discipline Is Not a Word, but a Foundation



After being a math instructor, Mr. Ernest Hoffman became assistant principal in 1968. He earned his Bachelor of Science and Master of Education degrees at Southwest Texas State College.

Mr. Hoffman handles the student discipline problems and he also assumes responsibility for all school sponsored student activities.

In the early part of the year, Mr. Hoffman could be seen as a vague shadow jogging on the track during the early hours of the morning. He takes pride in himself and the student body he is associated with. Wherever the kids are, Mr. Hoffman is; sometimes disciplining, but mostly just getting to know the McCollum student body.



Counseling Is Complete With Love

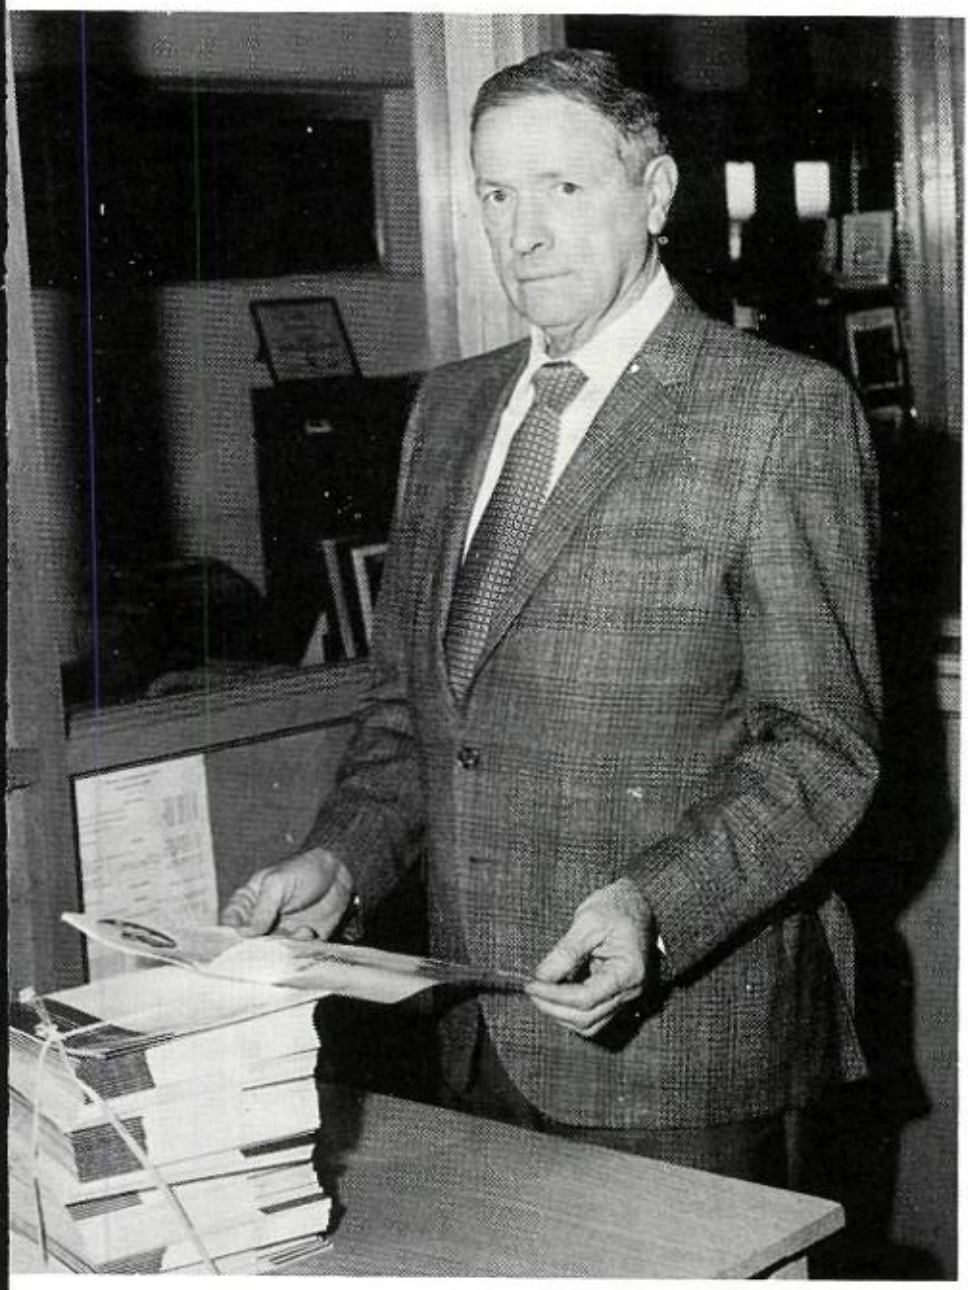
Miss Ruby McPherson is Junior and Senior class counselor. Hers is the responsibility of helping juniors and seniors with many problems: college problems, personal problems, family problems, and any and all problems of students. Miss McPherson does anything her services allow her to do for the good of a student. She often thinks, writes, acts, and advises, in behalf of a student long after 3:30.

Miss "Mac" is also sponsor of the National Honor Society. She received her Bachelor of Art and Master of Education degrees from Trinity University and Our Lady of the Lake College.

In the position of Sophomore class counselor sits a smiling Mrs. Suzi Tyson. Along with counseling sophomores and helping them with their problems, Mrs. Tyson is also sponsor of the Projectionist club.

Mrs. Tyson attended Incarnate Word College and Our Lady of the Lake College, receiving her Bachelor of Science and Master of Education Degrees.

Mrs. Tyson is the first McCollum Sophomore class counselor; the first being the best; at least in this case.



Above: Mrs. Elizabeth Cahalan, Freshman class counselor, is a graduate of Austin College where she received her Bachelor of Arts degree. She also attended Our Lady of the Lake College.

Mrs. Cahalan, an avid Snoopy fan, is the sponsor of McCollum's Student Council. This is a job of tremendous responsibility in itself, but she still finds time to counsel and advise the freshman class with their problems; and to buy all the Snoopy posters and Snoopy material she can find.

Left: Mr. George Smith, Vocational counselor, has the job of selecting and placing kids in a vocational job while they are in school. These courses, such as Vocational Office Education, Vocational Health Occupations, and Auto Mechanics, help students learn a trade while they are in school. Thus, when they are out of school, they have knowledge and experience in a particular field.

Mr. Smith received his Bachelor of Arts and Master of Education degrees from Trinity University.

Aware . . . Vital . . .

Persistent . . . Giving . . .

Mrs. Lura Myer lists her position as registrar, but, in fact, she does much more than the title implies. At the first of the year, she fills classes, schedules students to various classes, and changes schedules after classes are actually attended and some students find this class not to be what they expected. After the first weeks of school, Mrs. Myer's job becomes more involved, but just as busy. If you go into the main office, you find Mrs. Myer helping Mr. Shannon, assisting students with transcripts, transferring students to and from other schools, and doing general work assisting the faculty members.

Mrs. Myer attended Incarnate Word College where she received her Bachelor of Arts degree.

"What can I do a term paper on?" "Do you have any books on Civil Rights?" "Where are the books on the Crusades?" These are only a few of the questions Mrs. Ophelia Harp, librarian, hears daily. Mrs. Harp has the responsibility of knowing what books are in the library, what books are needed, and what books are suitable for reading. She also has to know good topics for term papers, what books are best for book reports, and many other bits of information students and teachers need.

Mrs. Harp has been with the McCollum population since the school first opened. Receiving her Bachelor of Science and Masters in Education, she attended the University of Denver, Sul Ross, South-West Texas State College and Our Lady of the Lake College. Mrs. Harp is also the sponsor of the Bookaroos, McCollum's library club.

Aides Wade Through Paperwork

The faculty aides are four women who have the difficult jobs of doing the paperwork which is so desperately needed at any high school.

Mrs. Frances Gamble and Mrs. Joan Smith work in the attendance office, and if you think that's easy, what would you do at 8:31 in the morning when in walk thirty-five tardy students? Or what happens when you lose three boys who were marked absent in two out of five classes?

Can you imagine working in the library all year? Mrs. Betty Myers can. She comes in contact with students all day long, assisting them in their search for suitable books.

Mrs. Patsy Williams is the cute young woman who you see when you walk into the main office. Even though she has a telephone on one shoulder and is typing a letter she still manages to smile and ask in the brightest way possible, "May I help you with something?"

Teachers attended and enjoyed the football pep rallies on Friday mornings. Below: Mr. Bill Witter, Mr. Bill Stack, Mrs. Judy Adams, Mr. Bill Dabney, Miss Barbara Trowbridge, Miss Ruby McPherson, Mrs. Frances Gamble, and Mrs. Joan Smith look at fans and fighting Cowboys.

District Has a Long History . . . a Great Today

The Harlandale Independent School district is one whose purpose is to provide an opportunity to develop the students to their greatest potential by the best teachers and instruction possible.

By the Legislative Act, this district was established in 1924. It covers approximately 19 square miles. Today there are 800 professional personnel employed by the Harlandale District.

The first school was in the granary of the old San Jose Mission. On holidays and Sundays the bells still send their message of calling people to worship.

The district today includes 21 schools, over 17,000 pupils and an average growth in excess of 400 per year.

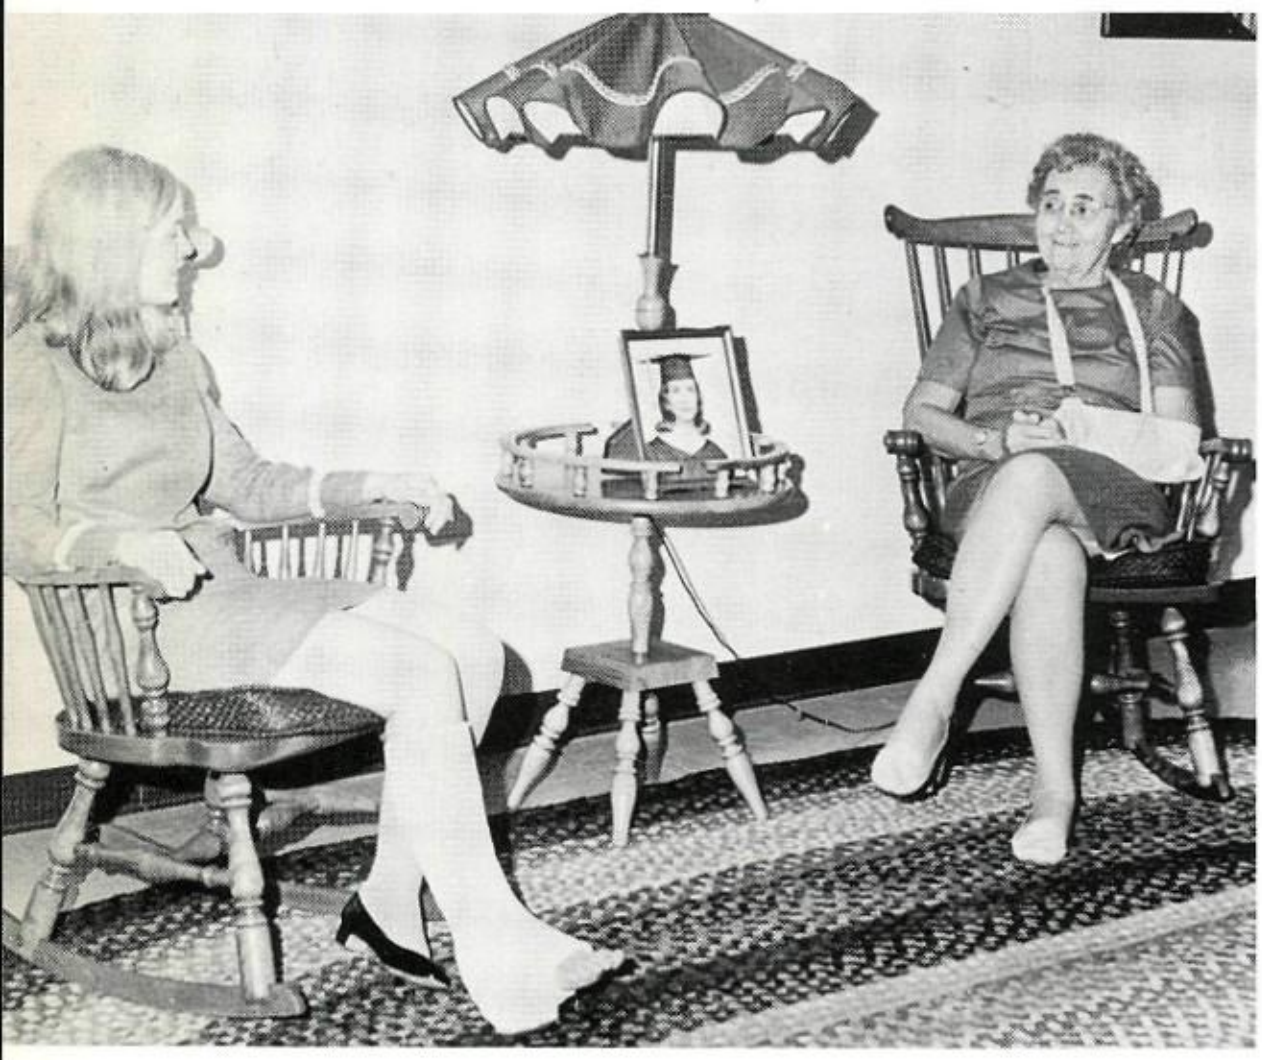
The school board members are (Back Row) Mr. Harold Frost, Mr. Bill Brashears, Mr. Esteban Sosa, Mr. Sam Pack. (Front Row) Mr. Jesse Dunn, Mr. Wiley Howry and Dr. Homer Utz.

Faculty: Alive With Energy, Blessed With Patience



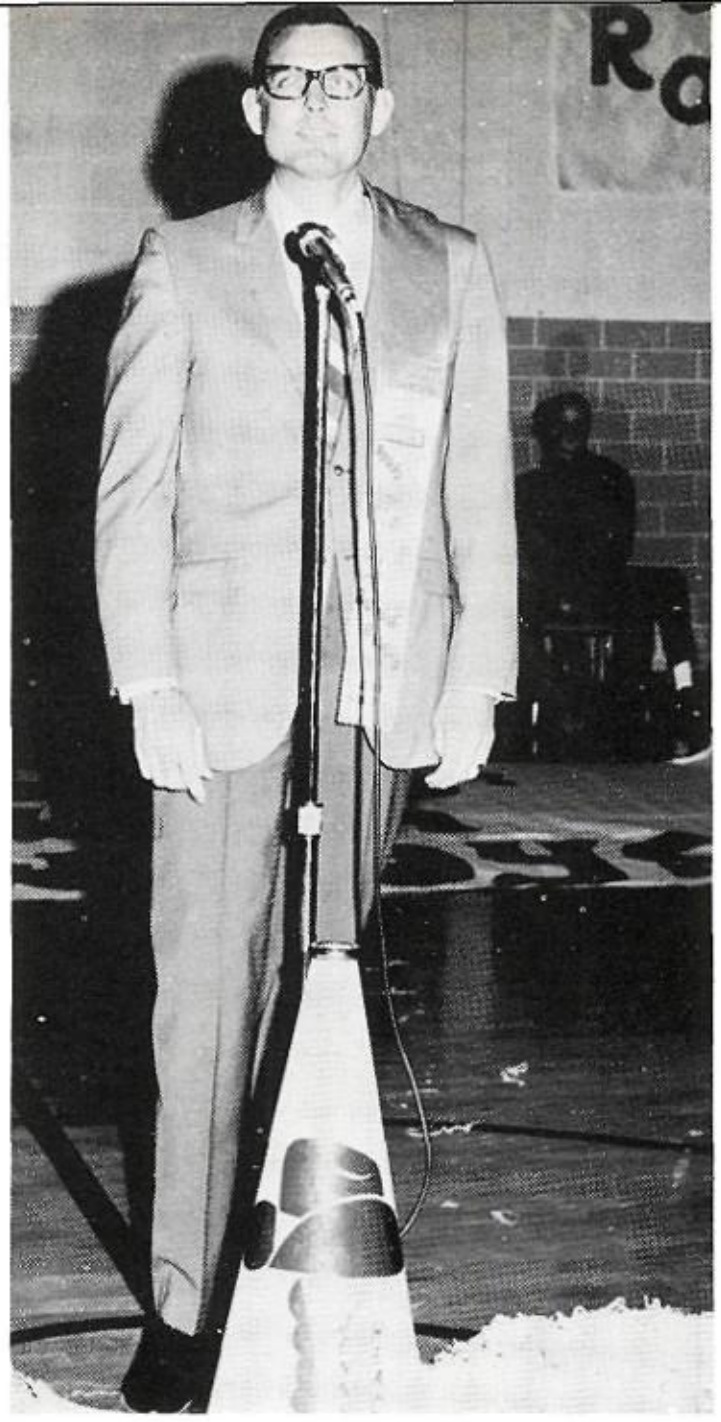
Above: Mrs. Molly Bailey and Mrs. Marion Jones suffered "tough breaks" at the the first of the year, but remained energetic throughout the period of recovery.

Right: Before the South San game, Coach Dennis Smith thanks the student body for their support and assures them their support is well founded.

Below: Mrs. Susan Maki, displaying her school spirit, created a green spirit flag complete with a gold MC on it. The flag is flown after any Cowboy victory. The Friday morning pep rallies brought closeness and pride in the hearts and eyes of the teachers and students alike. Bottom: The teachers applaud as "their cowboys" arrive in the gym.

English: Bridge Over Communication Gap

The knowledge and ability to use one's own language to its best potential is very important in developing relationships with others. For an English teacher, lessons must be informative as well as interesting. There must be complete knowledge of old and new styles. The English department is composed of 14 teachers, 4 of whom teach other classes as well. All these teachers know and apply old and new concepts in such things as poetry, vocabualry, punctuation, and all the mechanics of English; but they also try to use their knowledge in order to stimulate the minds and talents of students.



Above: Mr. Callie Smith, Superintendent of Harlandale School district, expresses his pride in McCollum and wishes them good luck in bi-district play against Roosevelt. Left: At the bi-district game pep rally, Mrs. Lucille Deasey and Mr. George Vakey returned to show they were behind the Cowboys all the way. Below: Mrs. Jane Boling, with the assistance of students Linda Gonzales, Timothy Swan, Isabel Rothenbach, and Lydia McClintock, prepares to decorate the cafeteria with one of the Christmas creations of her art class.

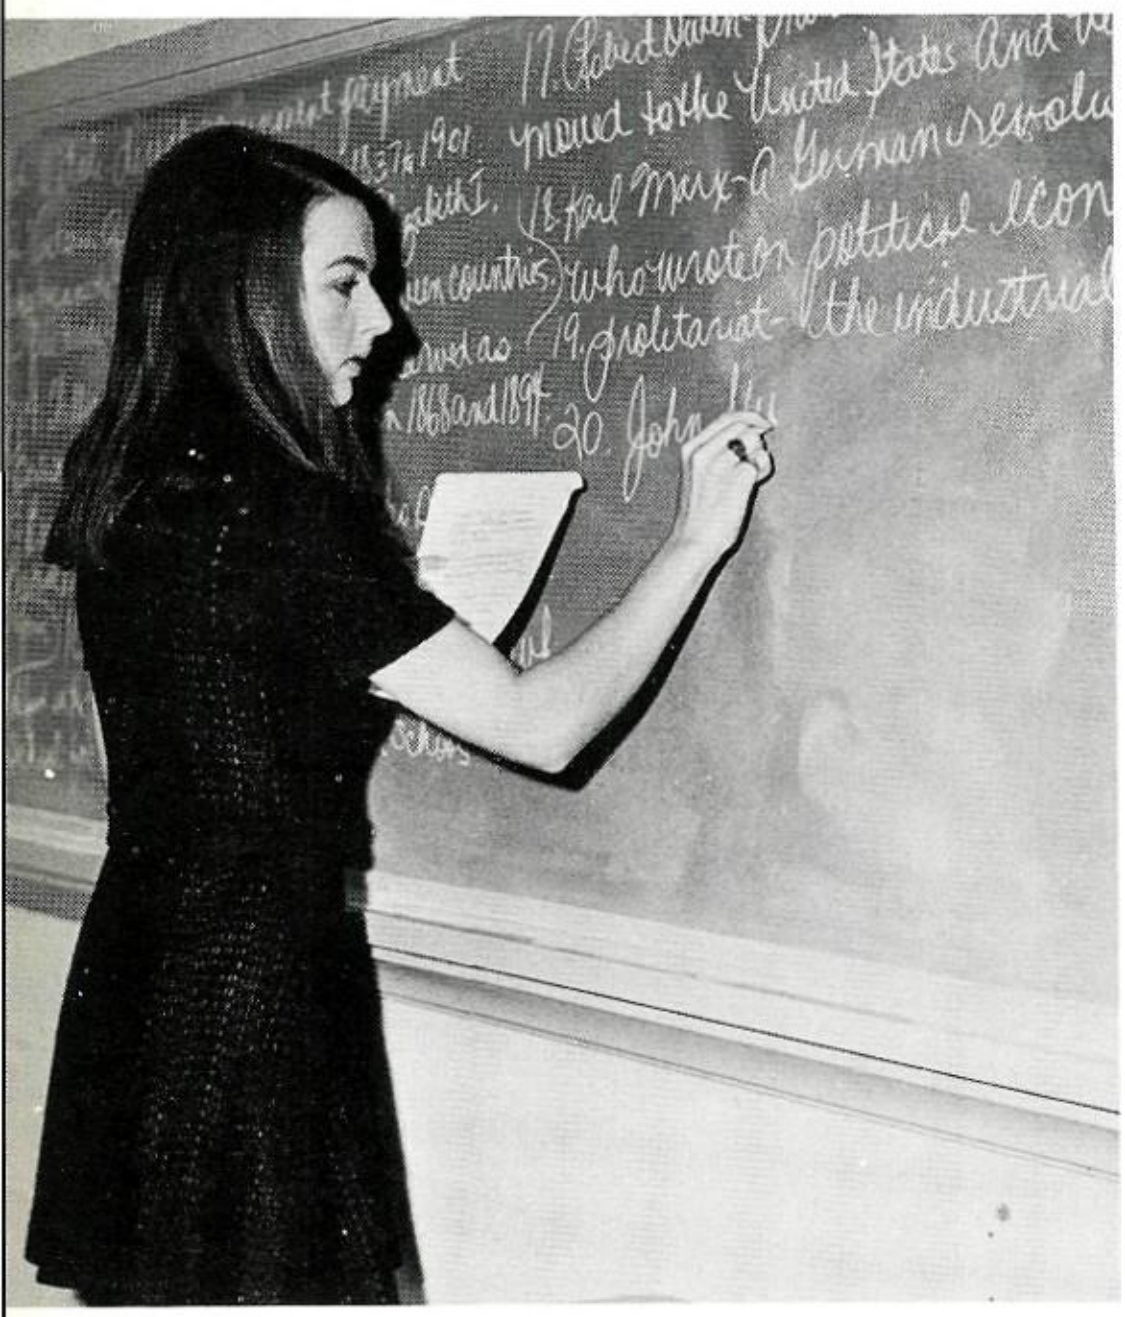
Students Learn the Past; Live the Present

History is a way of life, not just a subject you didn't make an A in. Under this broad area is: economics, government, American and world history, world geography and Texas history. McCollum teachers, as well as teachers in general, work long hours planning field trips, term reports, term projects, and many other special assignments designed to keep students learning and interested. In this way, students are interested in the past and what is NOW. This becomes history in itself.



Above: Miss Leo Overman began her teaching career at mid-term when she stepped in to fill the position left vacant by Mr. Pedro Martinez who left to become a foreign diplomat. Miss Overman is a 1966 graduate of MHS.

McCollum is fortunate in having teachers on its staff who truly love the school. Top: Teachers who have been here since the school first opened in 1964 are: Mr. Earl Ott, Miss Ruby McPherson, Mr. Charles Snyder, Mrs. Lenore Garcia, Mrs. Lura Myer, Mrs. Ophelia Harp, Mrs. Catherine Russell, Mrs. Gladys McCollum. Mrs. Gladys McCollum was selected this year as Harlandale school district's nominee for Teacher of the Year. The nomination was based upon the demonstrated respect and admiration of students, parents, and co-workers. Above: Lectures are a daily part of the teacher's life. Here, Mrs. Elizabeth Swayze lectures concerning the rights of individuals in relation to the rights of others.

Language: Insights and Broader Horizons

Other than E n g l i s h, the languages taught at McCollum High School are Spanish and French. These two languages are the ones spoken most by visitors and people who are stationed here in the service. People who speak two or more languages are able to meet and become acquainted with people of different nationalities. The writing and reading of both languages are also taught. In this way, horizons become broader and broader . . . insights become greater and greater.

Above: Mr. Angelo Russo, biology instructor, is a firm believer in using friends during his lectures. Here, Mr. Russo is helped by his body buddy, Bertha, in showing the location of human bones.

Science: Functions, Inter-relationships

The definition of science, as stated by the American Heritage Dictionary of the English Language, is "the observation, identification, description, experimental investigation, and theoretical explanation of natural phenomena." This means simply that science is the study of the natural processes of life.

Under the heading of science comes such courses as general physical science, chemistry, biology, and physics. General physical science, biology, and chemistry are taken by most students who plan to go to college. Physics is a more specialized type of science taken by students who plan to attend college and major in a scientific area.

Guidance, Learning Cultivate Math Concepts

A math teacher has a very demanding job. He not only has to present the facts, but a lot of times he also has to be able to prove they are right. There are times, too, when the instructor's lecture has to be so simple that the most innocent mind can comprehend; while yet being complex enough to keep the superior mind alert and alive. Unlike other courses, he only has a limited supply of charts and drawings on his subject . . . he has to depend mainly on himself.

Whether it's related math, algebra, geometry, trig or analytical geometry, it's all the same . . . one thing has to be learned before you go on to the next step . . . how rapidly and how high you go depends on how much you are willing to give. It takes an instructor to guide, but a student to learn.

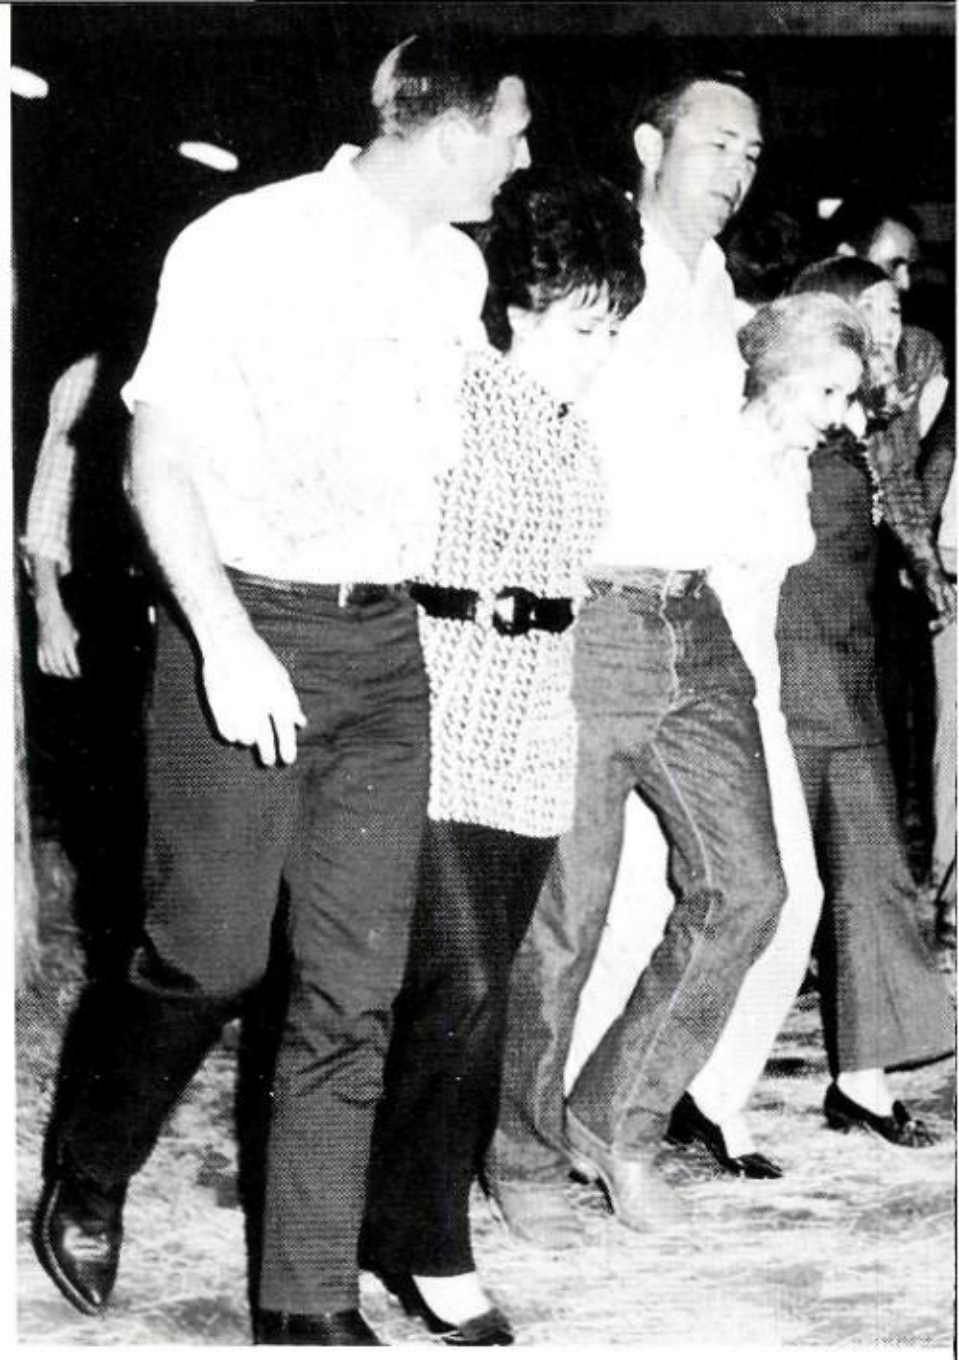
This year, getting a chance to see the other side, they chose to come back to McCollum and start their teaching careers. Middle: Many evenings after school, Mr. Theodore Mueller stayed to help students interested in slide rule prepare for the University Interscholastic League competition. Here, he helps students Judy Puryear and Nancy Walker. Left: Sometimes, no matter how hard you try, you can not understand how to work a problem unless it is explained to you over and over. Here, Mr. Robert Gholson delivers to his class the basic problem and explains how to solve it.

Exercise of Body + Skill of Mind = Physical Education



Physical education is just as important as mental education. All physical education classes are based on a curriculum that attempts to meet the needs of 9th, 10th, 11th, and 12th graders. The amount of information and skills taught will, of course, vary from year to year.

Physical education is composed of classes in team sports, individual sports, dual sports, athletics, intramurals, and other classes such as ROTC, pep squad, and band. All physical education classes combine exercise of the body with skill of the mind.

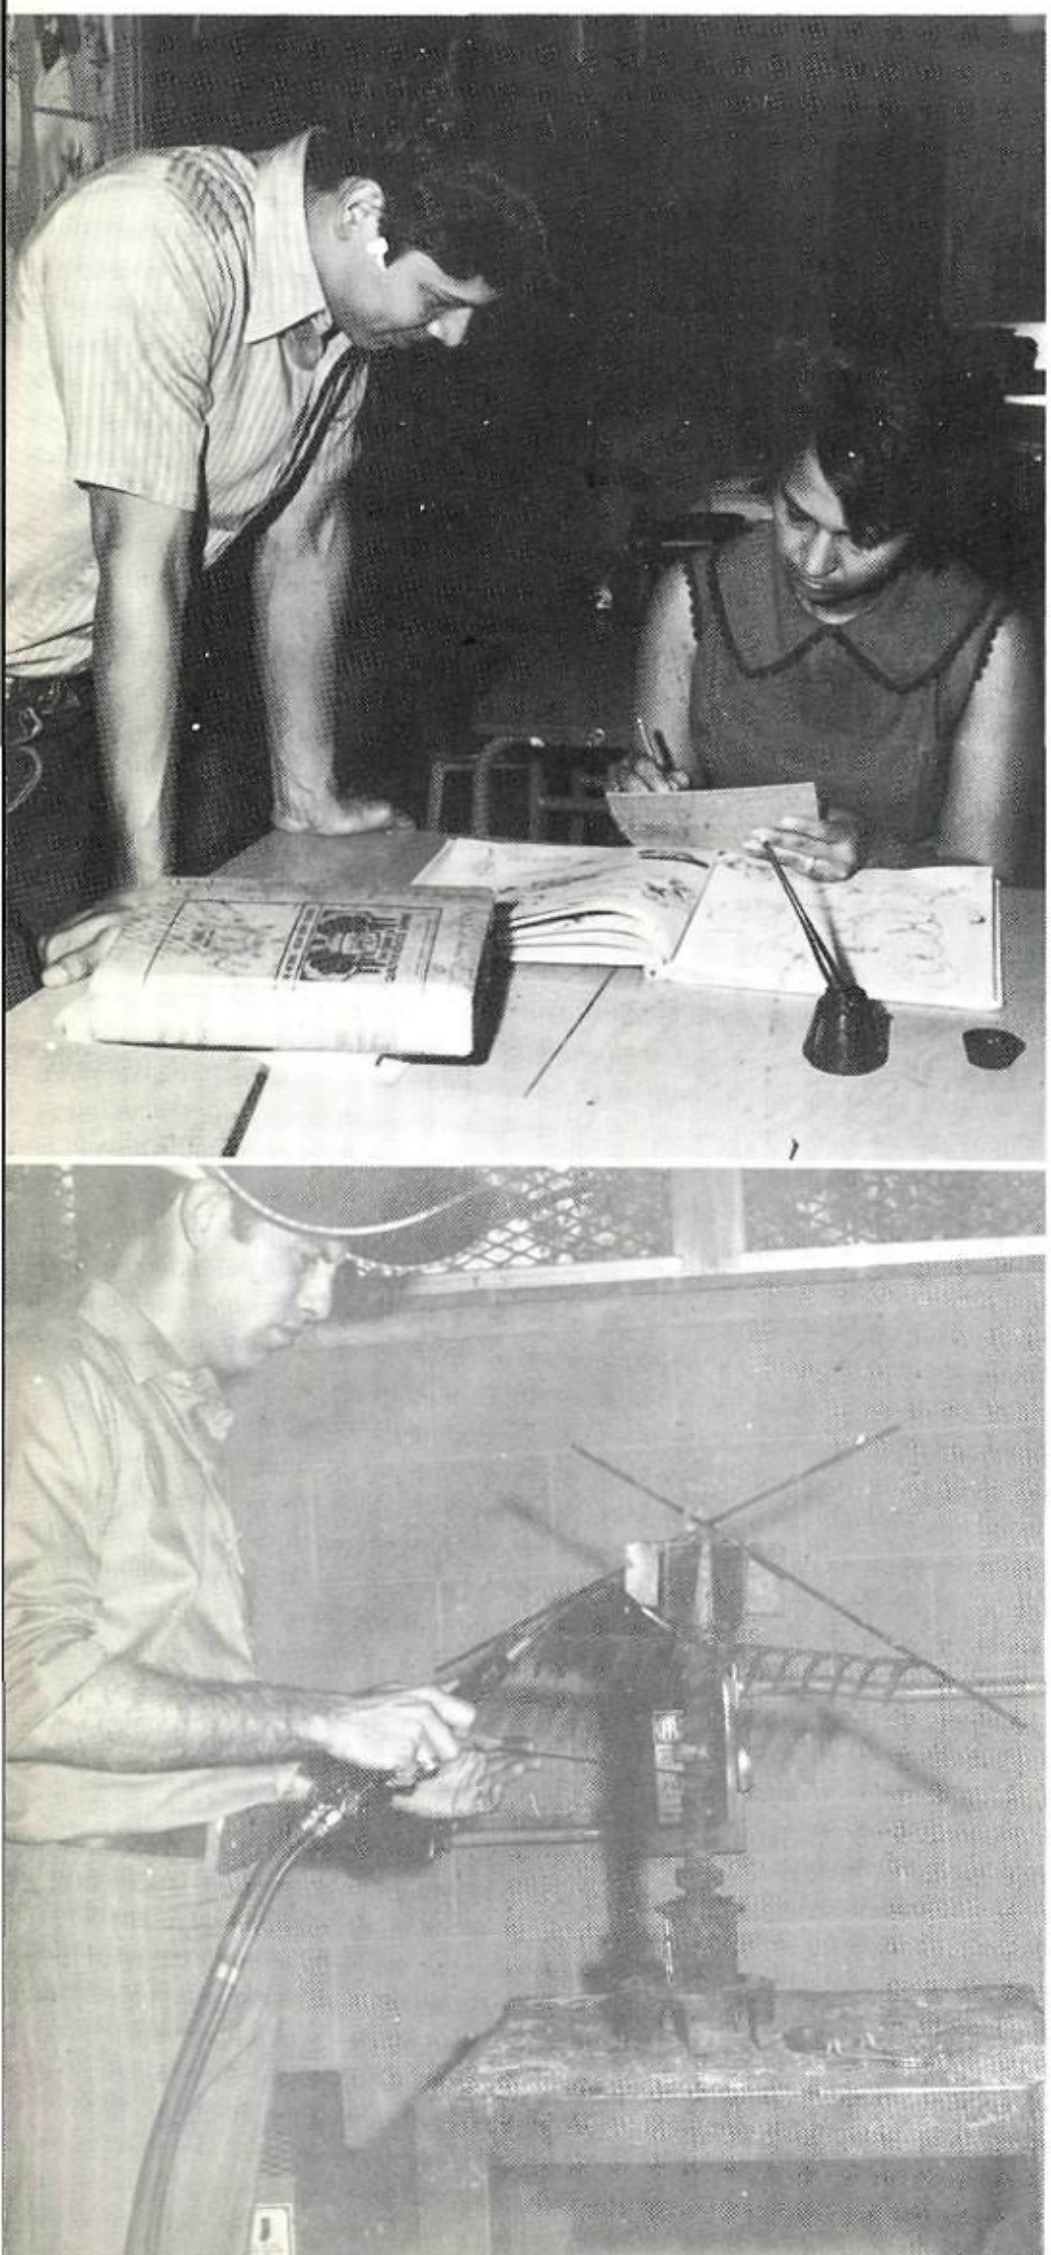
Fine Arts: The Profit of Talent and Skill

Below: Mrs. Delia Salinas began teaching art at McCollum at mid-semester. Many times, as shown here, Mrs. Salinas is busy giving each student, such as Gene Rodriguez, individual attention. Bottom: Two steel rods, a rake, a clutch, a fly wheel off an electric motor, a camshaft, a gear, a standard transmission and numerous steel objects make up Mr. Richard Burmeister's original sculpture.



Talent is a very unique thing. No two people have the same talent. The fine arts department is aware of this fact, and as a result, students are not told how to create; but guided as to the technique in creating. Instruction is not used as a whip, but as a stimulus.

There are many areas where talent along with skill may be used. Some of these are in the art and music classes. However, speech and journalism departments also require talent and skill. There is a never ending need for talent and skill . . . aren't these elements the roots of success?

Above: Miss Emily Loverde, speech and drama student teacher, hugs the stuffed turtle which was given to her as a farewell present by the fifth period speech and drama class. Opposite: In preparing for a play, there is a lot of back-up work which must be done. Here, Mrs. Ann Dalton, along with Tommy Lothringer, Jennine Moore, Gary Marshal, paints a part of the scenery.

Commercial Dept.: Business Is Our Business

Preparation for a business career is the purpose of the commercial classes. Techniques of proper office procedure are taught in classes of typing, bookkeeping, record keeping, clerical office practice, shorthand, and general business.

Techniques are exercised on authentic office machines. Ditto machines, dictaphones, typewriters, etc., are daily utensils in the life of a business executive. The same is true with Business students; machines are vital to their work. Upon graduation, students who have taken business courses are prepared to begin a career in the business world.

Vocational Class Unlocks Success Door

There are many students who wish to begin a lifetime career upon graduation. In order to be a success, preparation and experience are needed. The schools today provide many opportunities for both of these qualifications to be met. In courses such as homemaking and home and family living, future homemakers are taught skills needed in home management. Printing, drafting, auto mechanics, electronics, and refrigeration and air conditioning are also taught to give students a wide selection of useful and interesting skills.

On-the-job training is taught in vocational health, vocational office education, and distributive education programs. These programs allow students to work ½ day and attend school ½ day. Success begins with some knowledge of the goal.

Cafeteria Workers Cook Up Energy Foods

When you sat down to the Christmas dinner in the cafeteria, did you have any idea of the travail and amount of food required to prepare that meal? Mrs. Jimmie Skyrm, head of cafeteria staff, reports that the following ingredients were used in that dinner: 22 baked turkeys, 20 pans of dressing, 6 no. 10 cans of cranberry sauce, 7 no. 10 cans of instant potatoes, 24 no. 10 cans of sweet peas, 10 no. 10 cans of pineapple tidbits, 15 no. 10 cans of pie cherries, 5 lbs. of diced cheese, 20 heads of lettuce, 2000 hot rolls, 10 lbs. of butter on chips for rolls, and 40 gallons of iced tea.

Each day the cafeteria and hitching post workers serve from 800-1000 students a day.

Those Who Learn

"Study for that history test today?" "What history test?" . . . "Watch it, Freshman" . . . "What's for Spanish homework?" . . . "Wow, I finally got a date with what's-her-name!" . . . "How come you never walk me to class?" . . . "Third hall has some tough competition in the door decoration contest" . . . "Did you watch the late show?" . . . "Oh, the Cowboys will cream 'em!" . . . "Got a pen I can borrow?" . . . "Want to buy a ticket?" . . . "Close your eyes, and tell me what you see." "Nothing." "That's what I bought my girl for her birthday" . . . "I haven't been tardy once" . . . "What's for lunch?" . . . "Boy, this is my last year!" . . . "Yeah, but it's a wig" . . . "I finished my research paper!" . . . "I need a new book cover" . . . "Meet me at the locker after school, okay?" . . . . . .

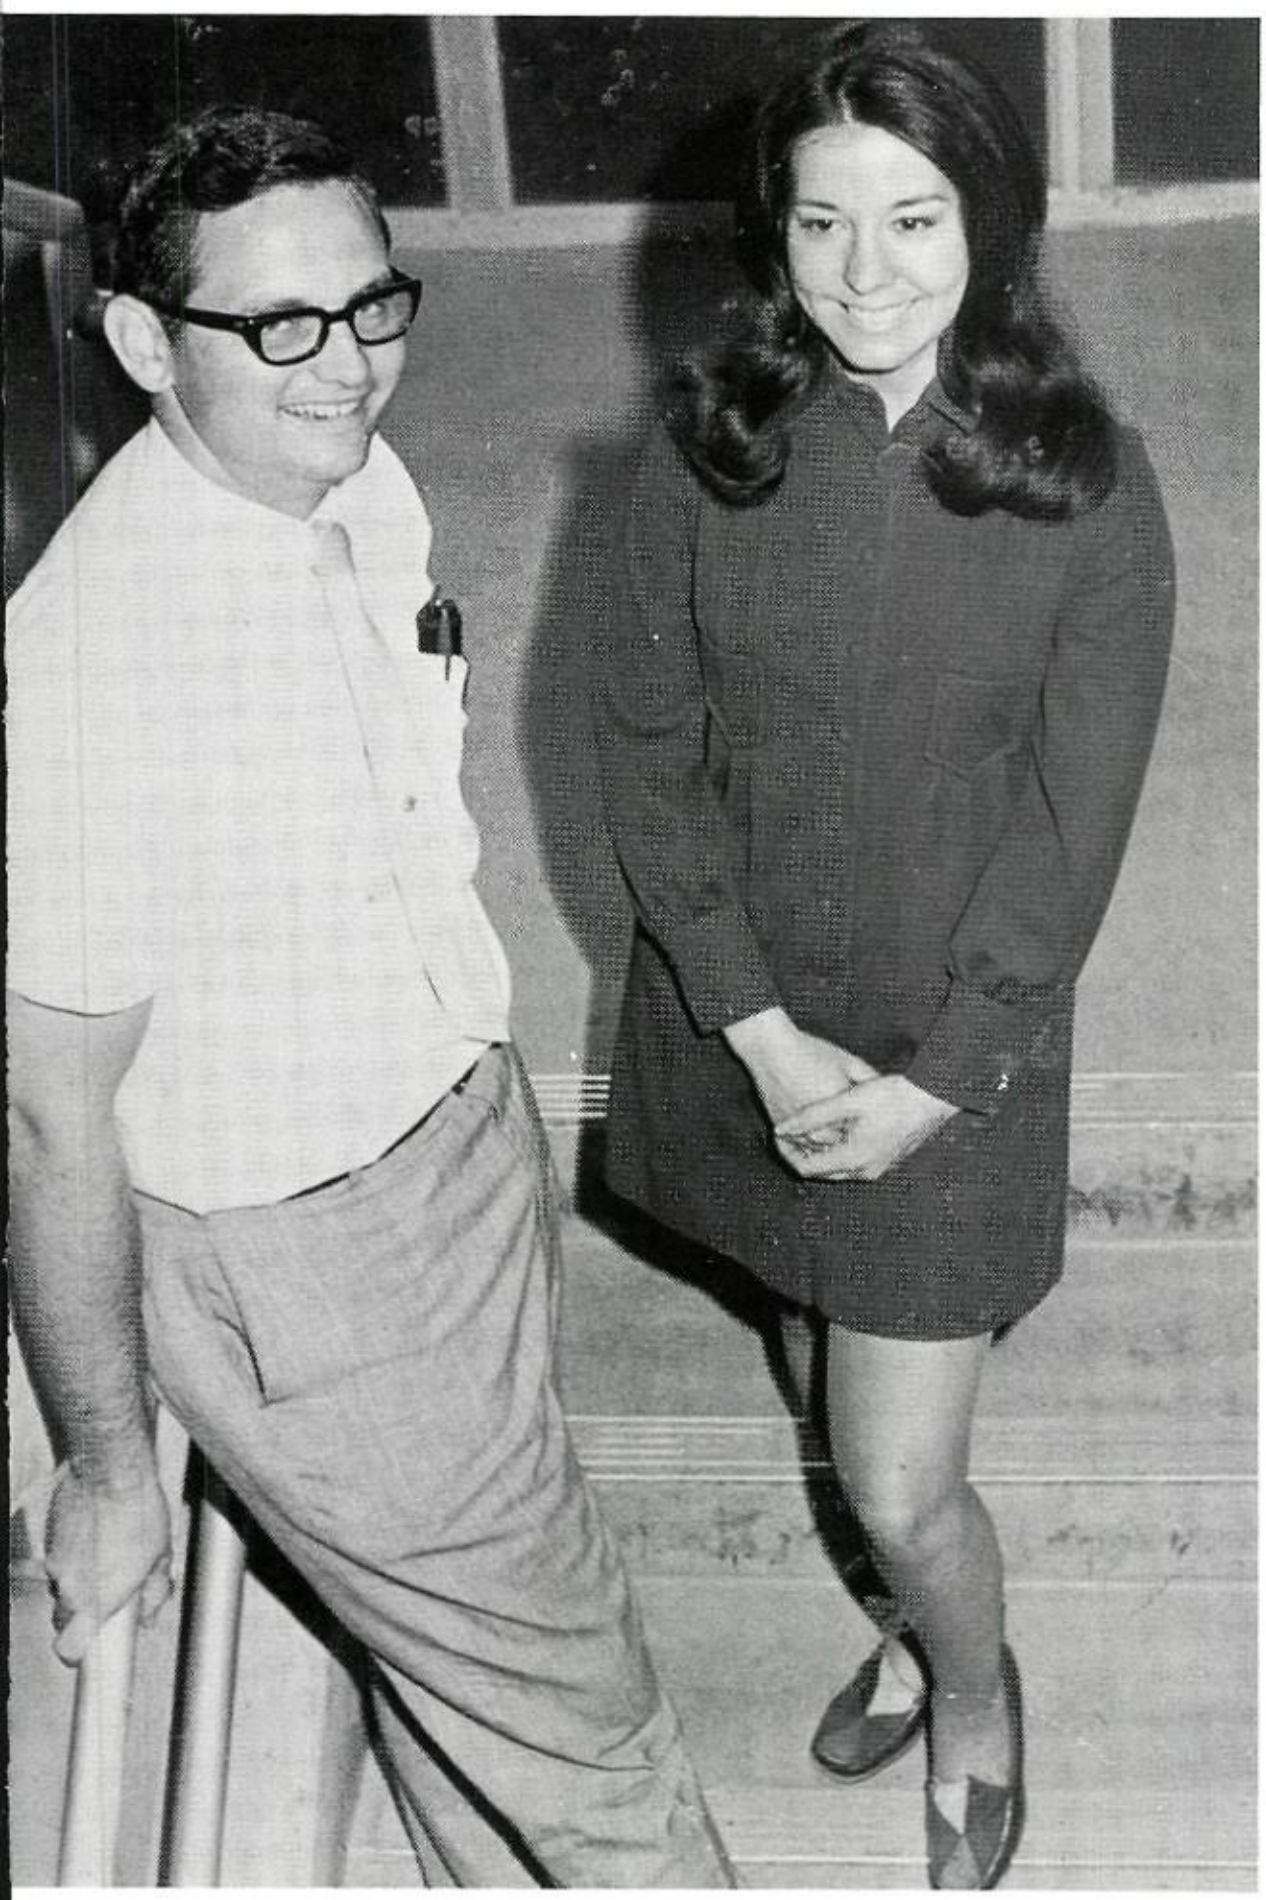
Seniors . . . They've Only Just Begun



The senior class sponsors for the 1970-71 school year were Mrs. Toni Stevens and Mr. Bill Stack. Among the activities sponsored by this year's graduating class were a sweatshirt sale and a candy sale. The senior class colors are blue and gold, the flower a yellow rose, the song, "We've Only Just Begun," and the class motto, "We will forever be together, yet so far apart." Included in the last-of-the-year activities were the sponsoring of the senior Banquet held at the Sheraton Motor Inn and the traditional buying of a gift for the school.

Juniors Grasp Responsibility

Juniors began the year by making posters for the football pep rallies to show support for the team. Then they showed their salesmanship by selling candy to raise money for the Junior-Senior Prom, held at the Sheraton Motor Inn. Excitement appeared when the time came to order senior rings. Planning their choice slips for their senior year made them stop and think. They helped decorate trash cans to show they cared about a clean campus. By the end of the year they had grasped the responsibility of having been a junior and becoming a senior.

Top: Junior class officers Gloria Sanchez, Connie King, and Pam Pais, get together to decide how to decorate a campus trash can as a class project. Bottom left: Sponsors of the Junior class, Mrs. Judy Adams and Miss Barbara Trowbridge, make paper flowers for the Junior-Senior Prom. Top: Ralph Gomez helps Juniors Adelina Solis and Delia Alcorta decide on what size to order their senior rings. Bottom: How would you feel if in your fifth period Algebra II class only one person (in this case Denise Mansour) showed up? It was only a joke played on Mr. Bill Stack but the joke was turned when all were counted tardy except Denise.

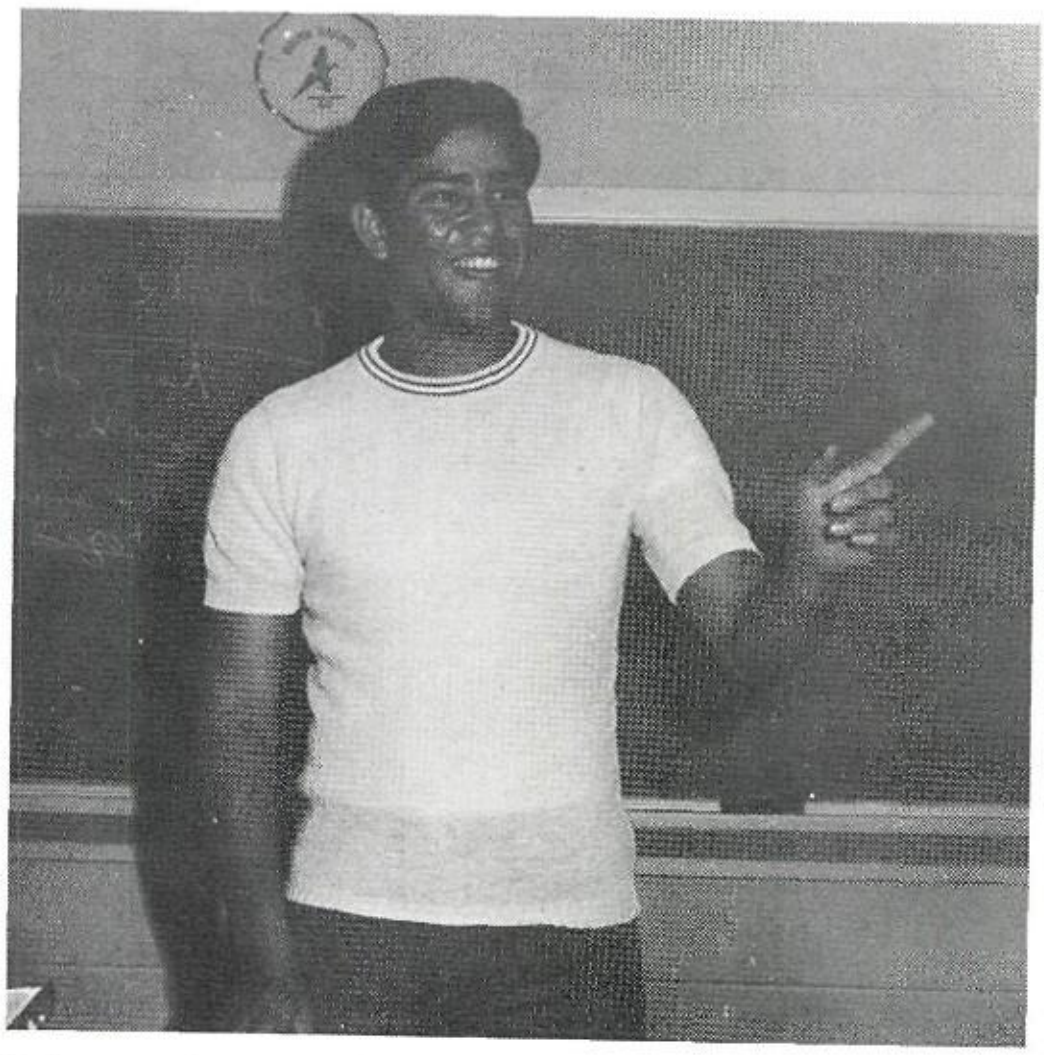
Sophomores Get Into the Swing of Things



Sophomore class president, Dean Calderon, finds humor in his duties as he presides over a sophomore class meeting.

For sophomores at McCollum, 1971 was a big year. They learned that participation is the key word to acceptance in high school life.

The shy freshman of 1970 suddenly disappeared and in his place was a brave out-going sophomore. Clubs, football games, school dances, proms, basketball games and track meets all became a part of their busy schedule of activities.

In March the sophomore class sold carnations for St. Patrick's Day and by May they had proven themselves as responsible students.

As their second year of high school life came to a close, sophomores were more confident and were already preparing themselves for their big day in 1973.

Elsie Anaya, secretary, and Steve Price, vice president, discuss plans for the sophomore class' selling of St. Patrick's Day carnations.

Freshmen Officers Lead McCollum's Youngest Class

The pride and cooperation of the Freshmen earned them much respect this year from the upperclassmen. They proved to be one of the finest freshman classes that has come to McCollum by their participation in various activities through the year. They worked well with the rest of the student body and adjusted very quickly to high school life.

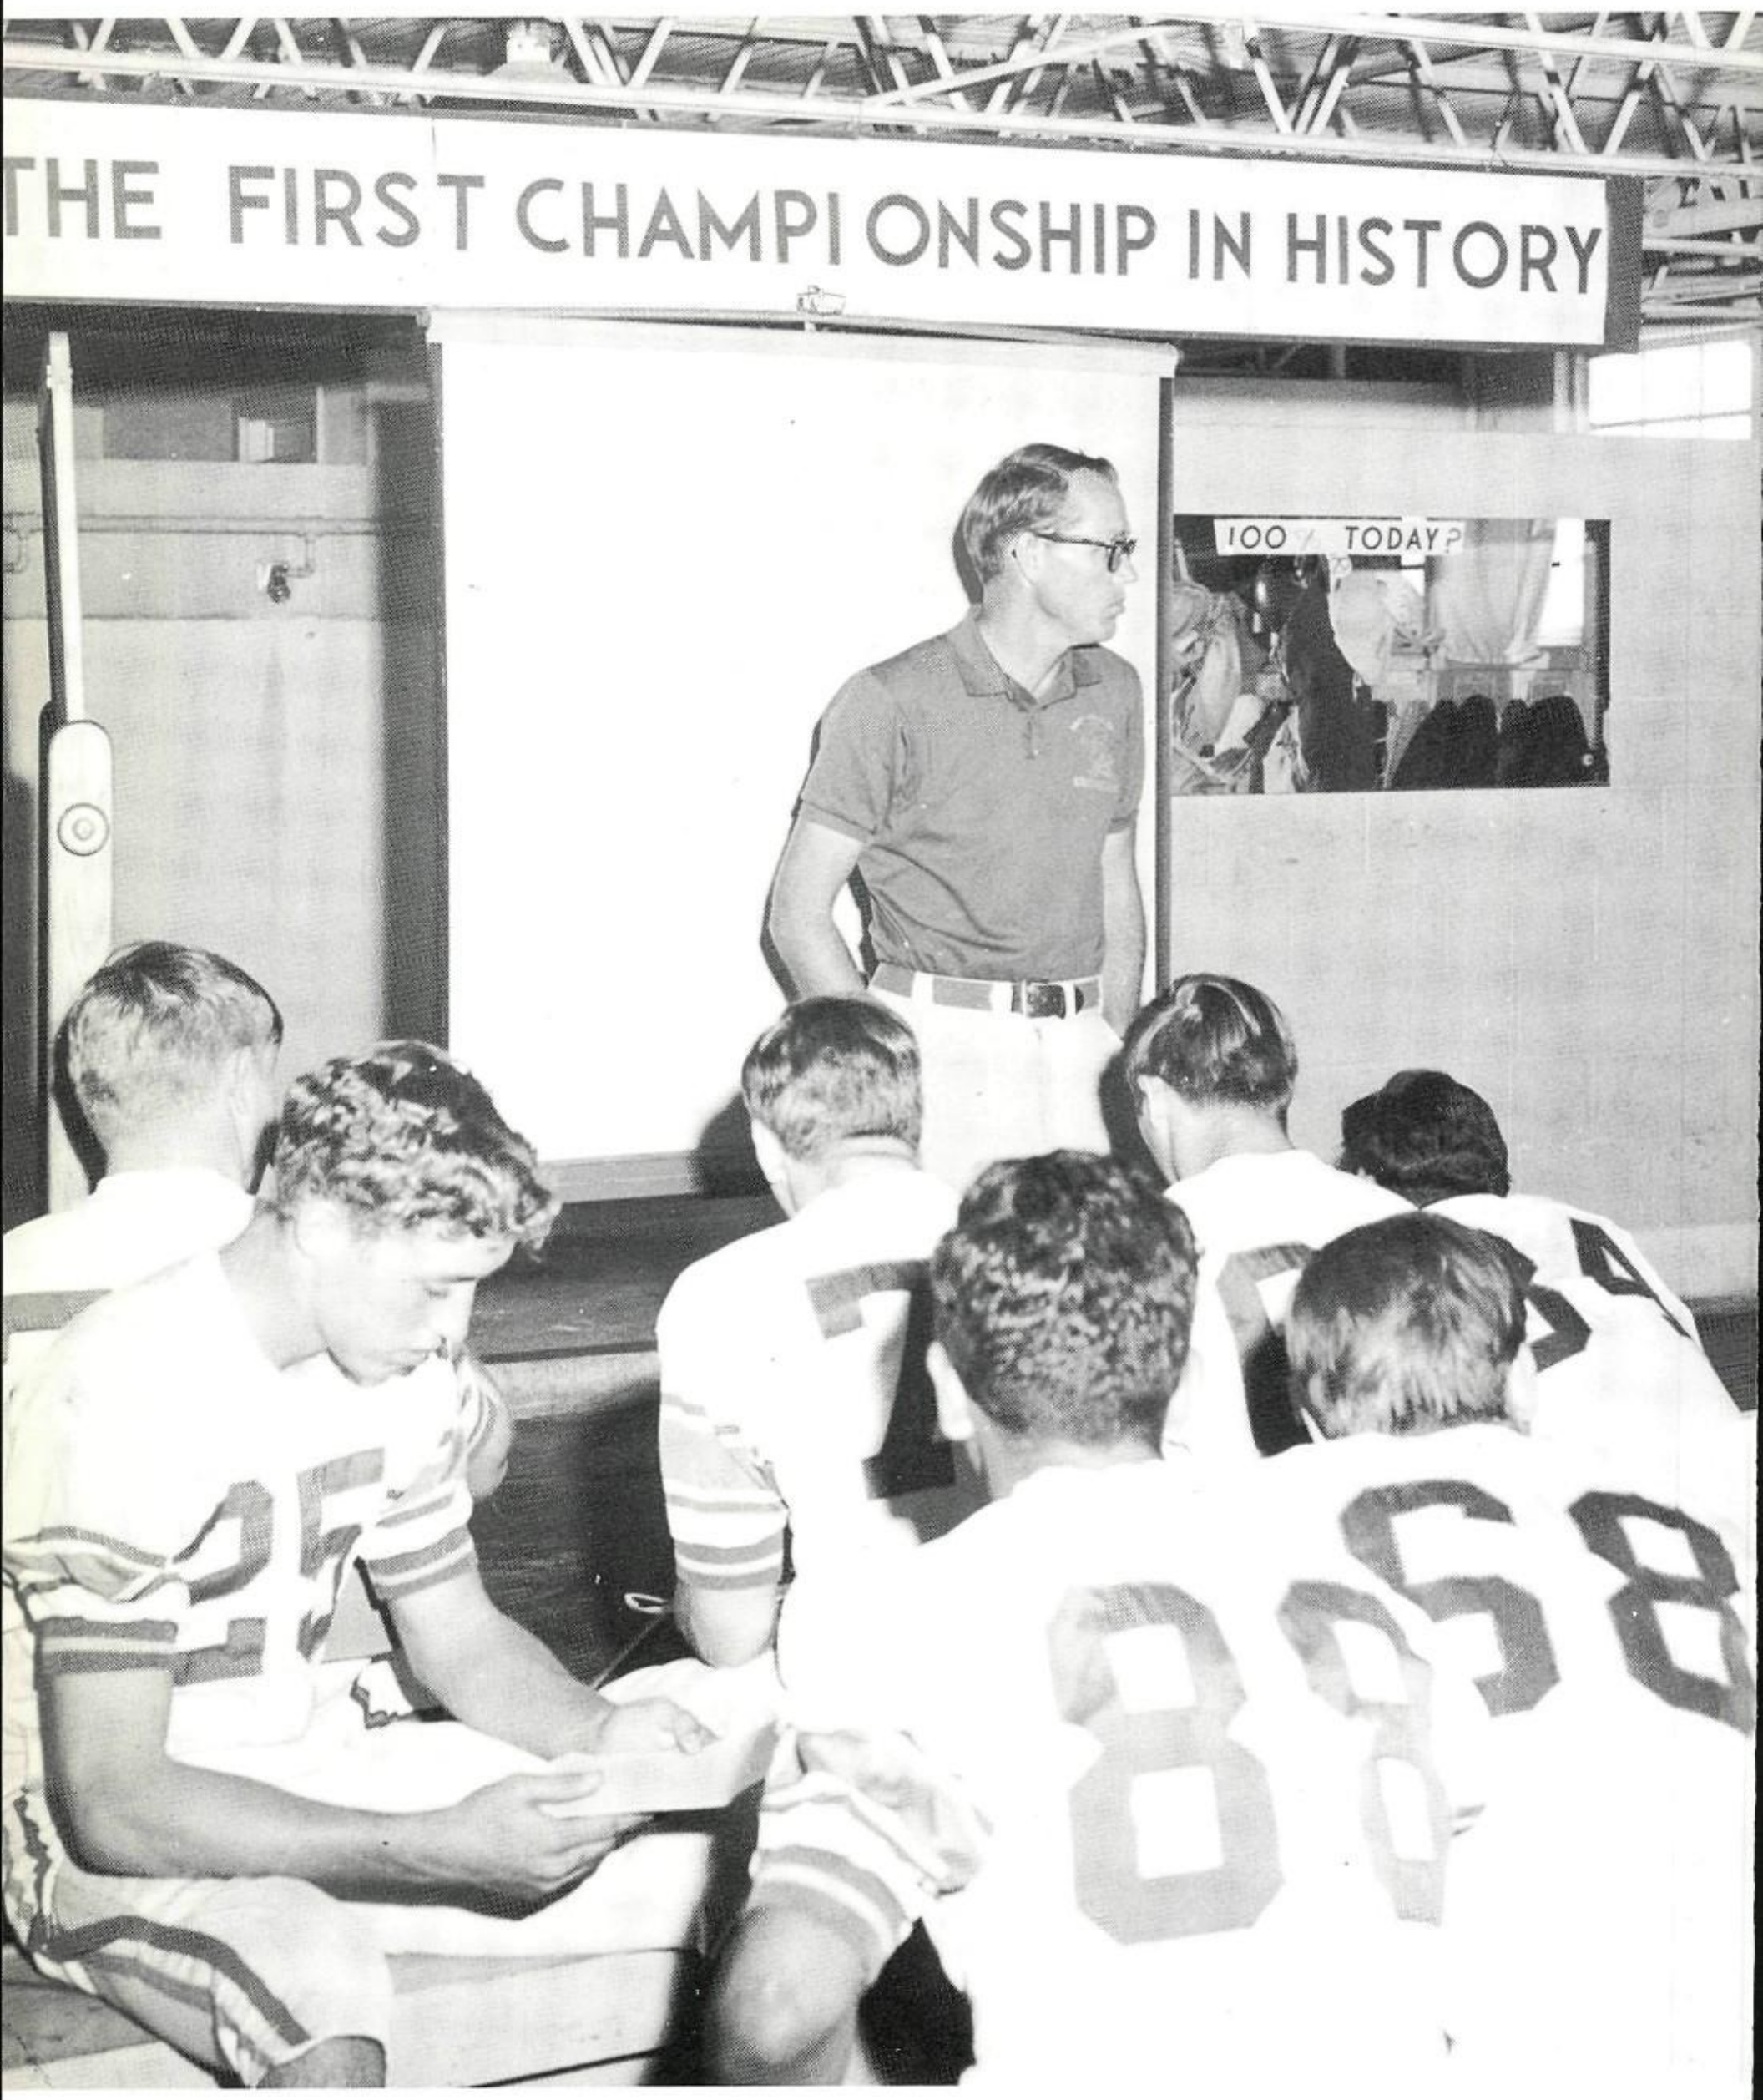
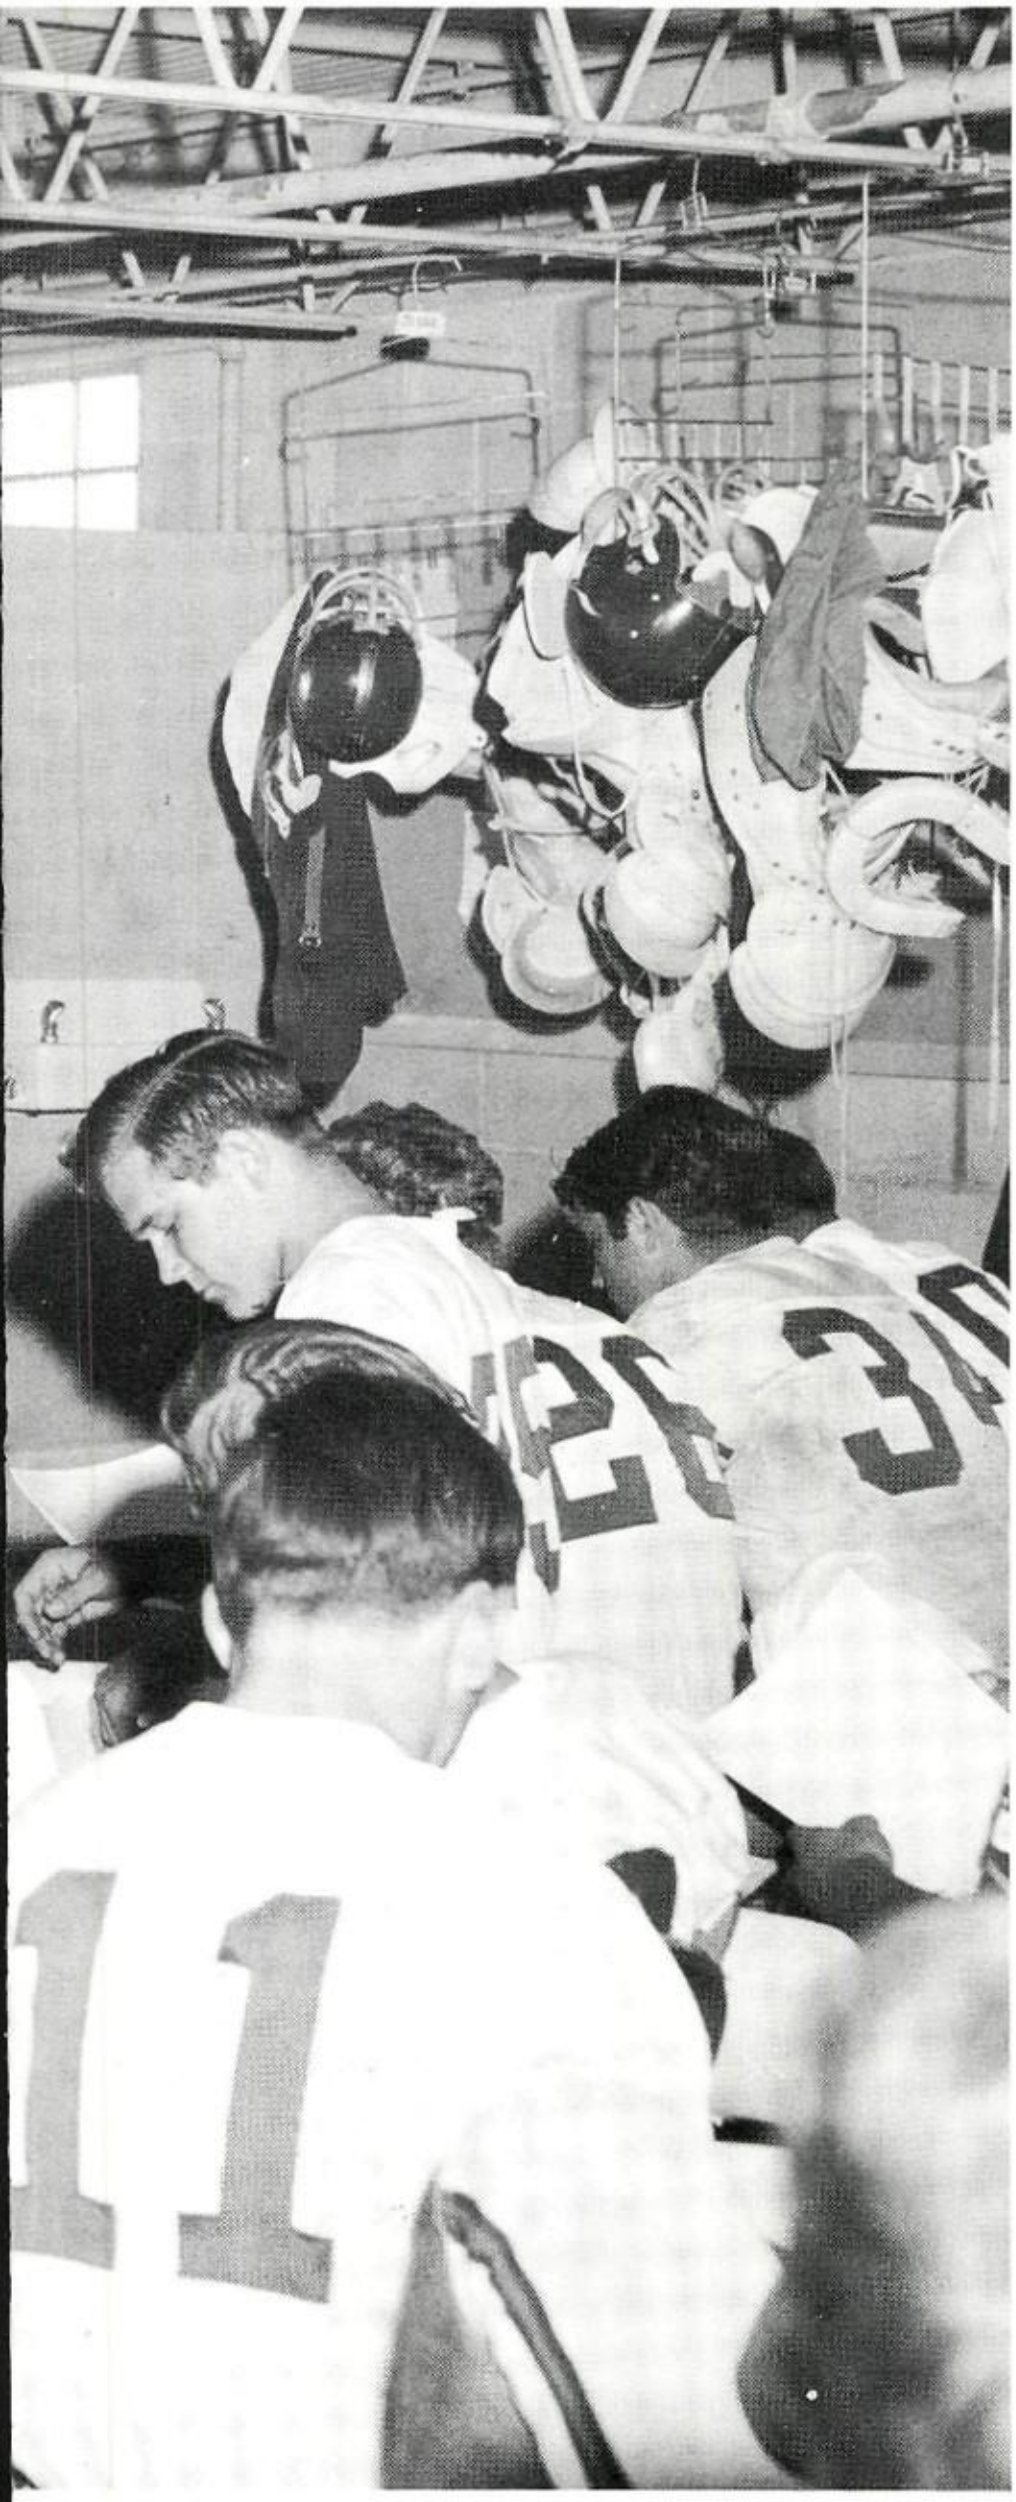
Do you ever think you'll forget football practice 'til 6 o'clock . . . getting out of school all day Friday to go to a tennis tournament . . . just catching up at a volleyball game and time is called . . . almost tripping over the mat while walking out at a pep rally . . . rejoicing at the victory over Highlands . . . rushing to get to the Green and Gold Prom after a track meet—and finally making it at 10 p.m. . . . Pat Felux getting to play in the all-star game . . . dragging yourself out of bed at 8 A.M. on January 2 and well—Where's coach? . . . hitting a home run and then forgetting to step on first base when you really need the points . . . well that's the way of life . . . that's the way we live and grow.



THE FIRST CHAMPIONSHIP IN HISTORY
100 TODAY?



The Mean Green . . .

The Cowboys, who were rated as darkhorse's in the 30AAAA race for the 1970-71 season, proved to be underrated as the footballers came out on top and won district for the first time in the school's history. This year's team broke records set by previous Cowboys. They broke the longest winning streak record with a total of eight consecutive wins and the most wins in one season with a total of nine. They hold the "most yards in one game" record with 486 yards total offense. The Cowboys were the first team to shut out four opponents and the first to enter into the state playoffs.

Coach Berman Corbell gives his traditional pep talk before a Cowboy victory.

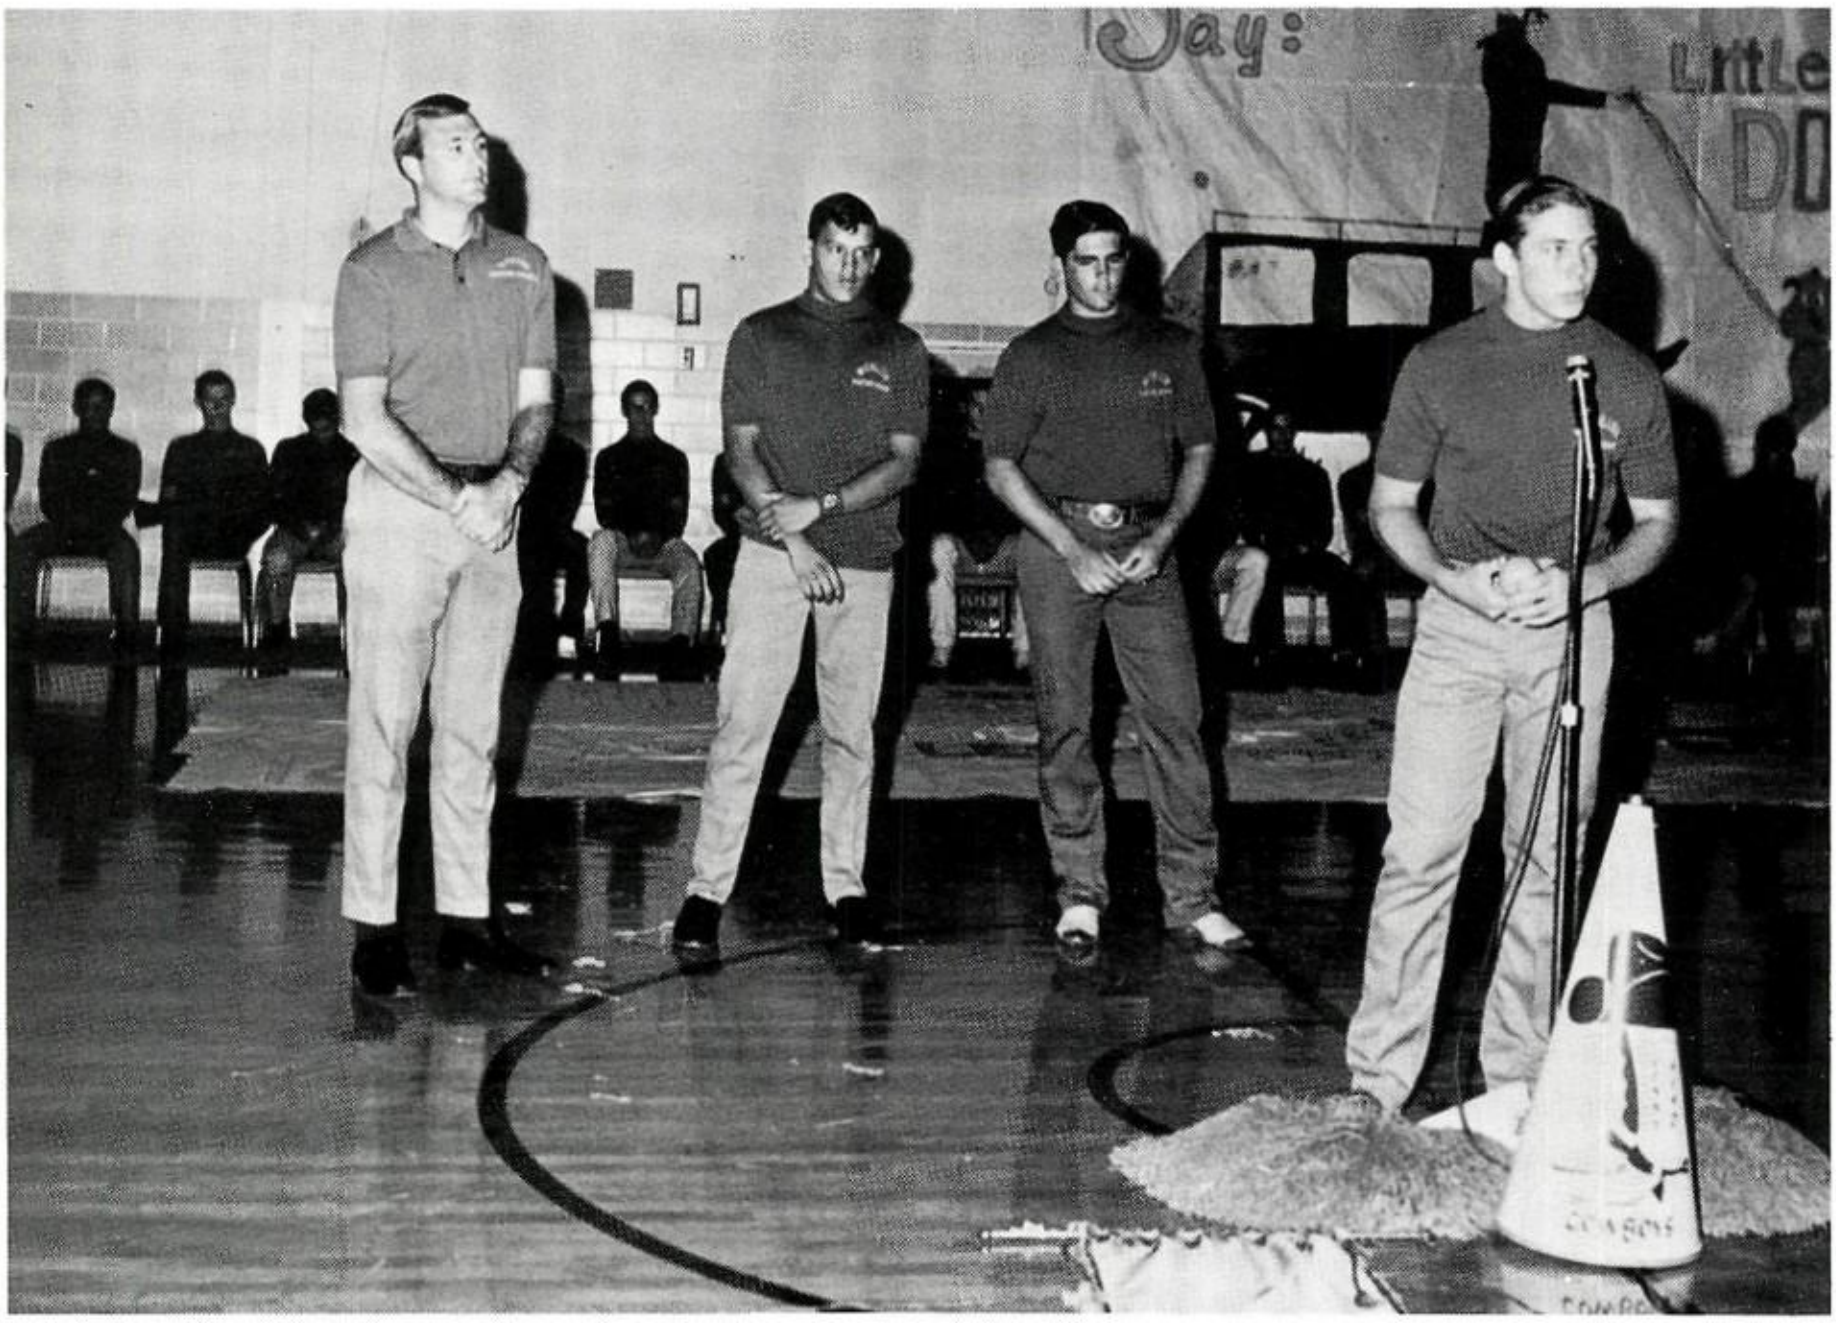
The Cowboys began their big winning streak this year by rallying to a 28-21 win over the Rough Riders of Roosevelt. Todd Williamson was the stand-out performer of this opening game.

The Cowboys made up for their loss last year and turned on a tremendous "Mean Green Machine" to roll over Alamo Heights 26-7 in their second game. It was a well organized game as the defense kept giving the "Machine" good field position all through the game.

A hungry bunch of Bulldogs came up from McAllen and gave McCollum a tough, almost tragic, battle for the third game of the season. With less than six minutes left in the game, the Cowboys pulled through for their third consecutive win by a score of 12-7.

Bill Jones tries to boost spirit at the McAllen pep rally as Skip Hajek, Larry Duarte, and Coach Visentine look on.



"B" Team Wins Title and Experience

The "B" team showed bright possibilities for another good season next year, as they too won the District Championship this year. There are many good future prospects who played on this years "B" team.

After dropping their first two games of the season, they came back with a five game winning streak. A loss to Sam Houston, then their big win over Harlandale closed the season and gave them the District 30-AAAA crown.

One Game Grabs Loop Title

The big game for McCollum this year, the one which actually gave them the right into the playoff's, was the shootout with the Highland Owls. The Cowboys played hardnosed defense and held the elusive T. Hopkins to 99 yards, the worst game he had all year. The "Green Machine" got rolling in the second quarter and, with Todd Williamsons' fine calling, put 12 points on the scoreboard. The defense saw the edge over the Owls and shut them out the rest of the game and the Cowboys came home with their 8th consecutive win, a shutout of 12-0.

Top: Owl quarterback Dennis Peel is about to be dumped after getting off pass.

It's Ours, We Made It, It's Cowboy Country

Opposite top: David Pack looks for paydirt on this punt return against the Edison Bears.
Opposite middle: Burbank is forced to punt from their own end zone because of a vicious defense which never let them into Cowboy territory.
Bottom right: Todd Williamson gets ready to throw one of his three touchdown passes against Burbank. It was the Cowyboys finest game with a record total of 487 yards total offense.

Basketball

The Cowboy basketball team for the 1970-71 season struggled through a disappointing season as they finished with a mere 12-22 record and a 8-16 mark in district play.

They accomplished something never done by Cowboy cagers by breaking a record of scoring over 100 points in one game against Lanier 103-84.

But this year gave good experience for the younger members on the team. Coach Dennis Smith has high hopes in two promising junior players. They are Nick Rameriz and Victor Traylor, who played well both offensively and defensively. Along with hard work and determination, the Cowboys should be in pretty good shape for next season.

Spring Sports

The Spring Sports begin with the long hard hours of the cowboy track team as they put in hours of practice and determination hoping to bring victory to cowboyland. But they came up against many tough opponents and ended at the bottom of the district ratings. Most of the points received came from Mark Kuykendall and Curtis Thompson, the two cowboy pole vaulters.

Then came the tennis players and their work for perfection as they put in many practice hours. Volleyball made an impressive show by finishing second in district play.

Volleyball made an impressive show by finishing second in district play.

The baseball team had a rough season as they ended in seventh place in district standing. The errors and mental mistakes is what caused most the cowboy losses. But the experience that was gained by the underclassmen should prove to be very valuable in the coming season.

Mayo Sets Pitching Record

The Cowpokes looked as if they would have a district championship this year by beating some very good teams during non-district play, but bad breaks and a few errors knocked the cowboys out of the race as they ended up seventh place in district play with only three wins.

Greg Mayo was the first cowboy pitcher in cowboy history to throw 100 innings in one season. Freddy Kroeger, Skip Hajek, and Todd Williamson lead the team offensively as they all ended up with a batting average over .400. Freddy broke the school record maintaining a .609 batting average.

Tennis Team Players Swing into Action

McCollum's tennis team, sponsored by Miss Davis, have been very successful; they have won all but two of the contests. The boys' first doubles team is Charles Jones and Mike Insall and the boys' second doubles is Robert Calk and Randy Haines. In singles (boys) the first singles players is Jeff Hicks and second single is Rodney Puffer. Among the girls first team doubles consist of Jenny Wilson and Mary Fuentes, and the second doubles players are Mary Barbe and Virginia Almendarez. In the singles, Angela Pacheco is first singles with Janie Eberhardt being second singles player.

Track and Field Sessions Underway

The track and field team, led by Coach David Visintine, has started working out in preparation for the coming season.

The track and field team competes in various events throughout the season. Some of these events are: pole vault, high jump, broad jump, shot put, discus, and the various running events. Coach Visintine says that he feels the team is best in the long distance track events. In a triangular meet with South San at Burbank, Polo Vera displayed this ability by placing in a Cross-Country race. Nick Ra-

B- Team 6-1 In Loop

Coach Milton Dresch's B football squad has all but followed in the exact footsteps of the varsity. Although the B-team is not officially in a district, it does compete with the B-teams of the other schools in district 30 AAAA. The records of the B-team and the varsity against district opposition were identical. The B-team, as did the varsity, lost only to Houston, Portwood. This gave both Cowboy squads 6-1 district records, and won district championships for both units- although the title is not official for the B-team.

Defense was the name of the game for the B-teamers. They [illegible]ave up an average of [illegible]oints per game. The [illegible] very impressive. In district competition the B-teamers scored a total of 176 points, while allowing only 42 points to seven opponents. The scores of the Cowboy B-team's contests were as follows:

McCollum 22, Brackenridge 0; McCollum 12, South San 6; McCollum 36, Edison 6; McCollum 22, Burbank 6; McCollum 6, Houston 12; McCollum 40, Harlandale 6.

Among several standout performers for the B-team is Philip Gomez. Philip is an ex[illegible] carrier, and [illegible]

Pat Felux To Play For South In Texas All-Star Game

[illegible]ring the 1970 football season Felux appeared to be a strong [illegible]ender for the All-State Squad. [illegible] went as far as All-City in the season coaches selections, but [illegible]vas not chosen [illegible] the All-[illegible] team. Thi[illegible] [illegible]nly disinting[illegible] more [illegible] he [illegible]xas [illegible]ty [illegible]s high [illegible] from class [illegible] participate in [illegible]l-Star game to be [illegible] Fort Worth this August. [illegible]was the only gridder from the [illegible] Antonio area selected to play the contest which pits the best [illegible]letes from the northern section the state against the cream-of-[illegible]e-crop from the south (the south [illegible]am being the squad on which [illegible]at will play).

The reasons for the selection [illegible]f Pat are quite obvious. He is a [illegible]ree-year-letterman and made [illegible]e All-District team in his junior [illegible]nd senior years (both years he [illegible]as chosen by a unaminous vote [illegible]f the coaches in the district). This year Pat was picked as an All-City linebacker. Pat's defensive prowess was exhibited by his average of eighteen tackles-per-game for the '70 season. Of those eighteen tackles-per-game, eleven were unassisted.

Although Pat is usually thought of as a defensive stalwart, it would be unfair not to recognize his abilities as a running-back. It was Pat's punishing tackle-breaking running style that earned him a six yard-per-carry average for the '70 season. On aerial plays Pat had a twelve yard-per-catch average.

Athletics is not the only field in which Pat excells. His achievements in the area of extracurricular activities are quite impressive. As a junior he was admitted to the National Honor Society, an organization of which he is now parliamentarian. Pat has served as historian for both his junior and senior classes. He is now a senior member of McCollum's student council. As a three-year-letterman he is entitled to membership in the Lettermens Club of which he was president for his junior and senior years. Pat is also a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Another honor bestowed upon Pat during his senior year was the nomination for "Outstanding Teen of America." Pat was one of four McCollum students chosen to represent the school in city and statewide competition.

Patrick's leadership during the course of McCollum's district winning 1970 football campaign, his academic excellence, and his numerous other accomplishments have made him one of the area's most heralded athletes of recent years.

Joe Bernall was fifth in the vaulting at 11 ft. 6 in. The other producer for McCollum was Barry Regan who tossed the shot 43 ft. 6 in. to capture sixth place in the event.

The district meet at South San was the final session of the year for all Cowboy trackmen with the exception of Curtis Thompson. Curtis' efforts in the pole vault qualified him for the Region IV meet in Corpus Christi on April 23-24. As a warm-up for the regional meet the San Antonio Independent School District held a meet for all regional qualifiers in this area. Curtis took fourth place in this practice meet with a leap of 13 ft. 2 1/2 in.

Majestic City

San Antonio–the Alamo city . . . the city of many people's dreams . . . a place to live . . . a place to grow!

San Antonio–a place to see history: the Alamo . . . San Jose Mission . . . Conception Mission . . . La Villita . . . Spanish Governor's Palace . . .

A place to have fun: Fiesta . . . Battle of Flowers Parade . . . Rodeo . . . HemisFair . . . Brackenridge Park . . . the Zoo . . .

A place to learn: SAC . . . Trinity . . . Our Lady of the Lake . . . St. Mary's . . . high schools . . . elementaries . . .

A place to see beauty: McNay Art Institute . . . Witte Museum . . . Confluence Museum . . . San Fernando Cathedral . . . Arneson River Theatre . . . Theatre of the Performing Arts . . .

San Antonio . . . a place to work: Kelly Air Force Base . . . Fort Sam Houston . . . Lackland . . . Brooks . . . Randolph . . . Bottling Companies . . . Can Companies . . . USAA . . . Bell Telephone . . .

San Antonio–a city of dreams–a city of ideas . . . the beautiful combination of old world charm . . . a modern city . . . a place to grow old . . . and to be young and alive . . .

What Can You Do With a 1972 Wrangler?

Read it
Write in it
Use it as a doorstop
Use it as a pillow
Use it as a paper-weight
Wear it as a hat
Fold it into an airplane
Obtain two, attach gold clips, wear as earrings
Use it as a britches-pad in Mr. Hoffman's office
Use it as a cafeteria tray
Hang it from the ceiling
Use it as bumper jack
Sit on it
Lift it over your head four times a day to build your bod
Chew the cover off
Let a sparrow build a nest in it
March with it in a parade
Add some lipstick and false eyelashes to it . . . introduce it as your best girl
Take it to graduation
Water it and make it grow
But whatever you do . . . .

Talent Runs High During School Year

ACTIVITIES

It's hard to forget the National Honor Society Induction when your candle wouldn't light . . . or Highlands' pep rally . . . or dragging yourself out of bed to make Tri-C's or band at 7:30 . . . or the girl you met at the F.T.A. convention from Clyde, Texas that you'll probably never see again. And you'll never forget when you had to give up your office of president at the banquet to some Junior who you felt would never be half as good as you. Or when you finally got that boy next to you in English class to ask you to the prom after seven months of working on him. Or when you felt like your knees were going to give way as you walked toward the stage to receive the honor for your worst subject on Senior Honors night. Or watching your best friend, whose name begins with D walk across the stage graduation night and wishing your name didn't begin with W. These are all a part of living . . . growing up . . . learning. They are the activities which mold our lives . . . the clubs and the life around campus . . .

Clubs

Life in Clubs . . . it's fun but very time consuming . . . it's joining a club to get your picture in the Wrangler . . . having sore feet from endless hours of marching . . . cleaning horns every day . . . collecting for various causes on Military and Pleasanton Road medians while getting carbon monoxide poisoning . . . practicing after school every day for three months to help put on a thirty-minute play . . . polishing bars to pass inspection . . . cracking your voice while singing a solo in front of the whole student body at a Christmas assembly . . . swinging at a tennis ball while your racket flies across the court . . . putting on a "Womanless Wedding" to raise money . . . forgetting about your homework in order to attend required club activities . . . helping with carnation sales in order to see if anyone buys you one . . . griping and complaining constantly about everything you have to do but really loving every minute of it.

Auto Mechanics Keep 'em Rolling

Auto Mechanics is a two year course offered to juniors and seniors. It helps students to better understand the problems of labor and management in the automobile industry.

Auto Mechanics I teaches the basic functions and repairs of the automobile. Students enrolled in this course are also taught how to sell parts and prepare customer orders. Auto Mechanics II is an applied and practiced use of the knowledge learned during the first year.

Right: Richard Rice and Barry Regan check the transmission and various parts of a car during Shop I class.

Top: John Marsh and Bill Wiginton look on as Bill Wilson adjusts the fan belt on a car during Auto Mechanics Shop. Left: Wayne Hoffmann and Leon Smith finish putting the intake manifold on a V-8 engine.

Band Swings in Cowboy Country

Mr. Bill Dabney is the director of the marching band and Mr. Harley Schmith is the assistant band director. Drum Major is Carolyn Doolittle and majorettes are Irma Reyna, Sue Standridge, Pat Basham, Debbie Tomblin. The members of the McCollum Varsity Band are (FRONT ROW) Callise Ollom, June Snoga, Janell Hembree, Pat Taylor, Beth Massey, Debbie Hines, Allen Pederson, Fred Wilberger, Ronnie Skyrm, Ruben Garcia, Richard York, George Malkemus, Eddie Callender, Tommy Burkholder, Nancy Campbell, Sylvia Morales, Yolanda Hernandez, Jenifer Rudes, Sandra Machost, Candy Burkeen, Karen Gravely, Barbara Duncan, Loretta Poirier, Andrea Graeber. (SECOND ROW) Janice Andrews, Barbara Jones, Judy Wilson, Belinda Burkeen, Brenda Fox, Susan Johnston, Edie McCury, Yolanda Ayala, Sarah Gilbert, Barbara Carter, Diane Perkins, Emma Gordon, Pam Foster, Nelda Serrato. (THIRD ROW) Susie Wiatrek, Connie King, Gary Moon, Karen Lott, Jo Ann Pratt, Debbie Foster, Janice Baird, Jimmy Flores, Joe Bernal, Randy Bedford, Lonnie Price, Tommy Allen, Tommy Shackelford, Armando Barroso, Polo Vera, Richard Dison, Larry May, Gerard Vara, Eddie Deckert, Teresa Robertson, Debra Campbell. At the McCollum–McAllen game, the band awaits drum majors signal to begin the half-time show.

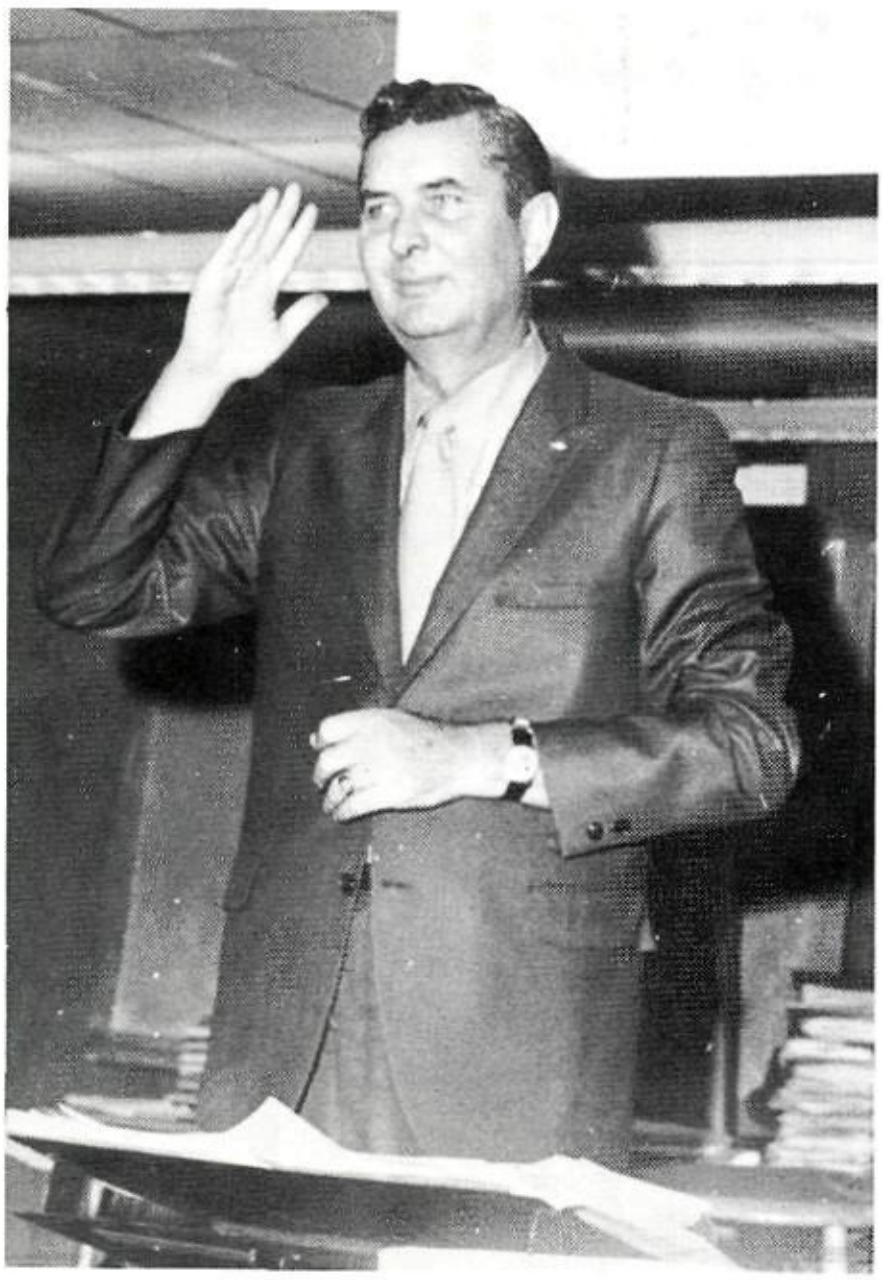
New Director Leads Band Into 1970-71 Season

Top: Mr. Bill Dabney is the new director for the McCollum Band. Mr. John Parnell, who had been at McCollum for five years, left to take on a new job as director of the Sherman High School band in Sherman, Texas. Previously Mr. Dabney had worked with the Brackenridge band. He has been in the band directing business for fourteen years. Bottom: The 1970-71 drum major for the McCollum band is Carolyn Doolittle. As drum major, Carolyn's duties are varied. She bears a great deal of responsibility for seeing that the half-time shows at the football games are run smoothly; also Carolyn must be able to hold the band's respect for her decisions and commands.



Majorettes Rate High in Cowboy Country

This year proved to be exceptionally good for the McCollum majorettes. After attending twirling camp in June, the girls entered three state wide contests in various towns throughout Texas. They won four first place trophies. The trophies were won for their performances in dance twirl, strutting, and majorette line. The 1970-71 Majorettes of the McCollum Varsity Band are Feature Twirler and Head Majorette, Pat Basham; Senior Majorettes Debbie Tomblin and Irma Reyna; Junior Majorette Sue Standridge.

Art Club: The Assembling of Talents

The Art club is designed to teach the members the many different types of art. They work with acrylic paints and oils, and make anything from landscape paintings to modern abstract art. The members each made a painting and entered it into an art show at Harlandale High School. Artists were brought from several colleges to judge these projects. Each member throughout the year experienced fun, work, imagination, competition, and developed the ability to work and cooperate with each fellow member. The accomplishments of the Art Club will indeed stay with each member for many years to come.

Bookworms Join Bookaroos

The purpose of the Library Club is to stimulate interest in reading, promote interest in librarianship as a profession, and study the inner workings of the library. Denise DeJarnette, president of the Bookaroos, is also incoming President of District VIII for 1971-72. The Bookaroos hosted a teacher's coffee and attended the State Convention in Huntsville late in February. They observed National Library Week by decorating the bulletin board in study hall.

The Bookaroos sell paperbacks in the library as a fund-raising project. The money they raise is used to buy books or equipment for the library.

Where the Action Is!

Gilbert and Co. Sing Way Into Every Heart

Under the new direction of Mrs. Florence Gilbert, McCollum's Choral Department consists of the Concert Choir, Girls Choir, and the Cordells. The Concert Choir performs for public functions as well as for school assemblies. A combined performance with the band produced a patriotic half time show at the Edison football game. School assemblies began before the Thanksgiving Holidays. Along with the Girls Choir at Christmas, they performed for the student body and sang at Joske's Dept. Store. The Concert Choir also participated in U.I.L. Contest and individuals entered the solo and ensemble portion as well. The Cordells, an extra curricular group, is made up of advanced students in the Concert Choir. Its members learn more difficult pieces of music and appear in concerts with the other two choirs. To be in the Cordells, students are required to pass an individual audition.

Concert Choir members for the 1970-71 year are, FRONT ROW: Sandy Martinez, Rebecca Cunningham, Susan Johnson, Kathy Moon, Dorothy Vasquez, Diana Roman, Dawn Phillips, Sylvia Cortez, Marjean Dove. SECOND ROW: Margaret Trotter, John Gonzales, Daniel Rivas, Sharon Belt, Maxine Warren, Dorothy Wilson, Connie King, Callise Ollom, Rita Barsh. DECA Students Gain On the Job Experience

Distributive Education is a two year vocational course for juniors and seniors interested in the fields of retailing, wholesaling, and-in service selling. Students attend school in the morning, earning two regular course credits and one credit in the classroom phase of D.E. In the afternoon D.E. students work at their jobs.

Throughout the year D.E. students attended the Area IV, State, and National Youth Leadership Conferences and Contest. They attended the D.E. Employers Citywide Banquet and local DECA social activities. On Senior Honor night a boy and girl are honored and each year Joske's awards plaques to outstanding D.E. students. A group of local plaques are also awarded by the sponsor.

DECA officers and sponsor for this year are: Dava Kerr, secretary; Steve Lothringer, treasurer; Lois Brown, president; and Mr. Waldo Reininger, sponsor.

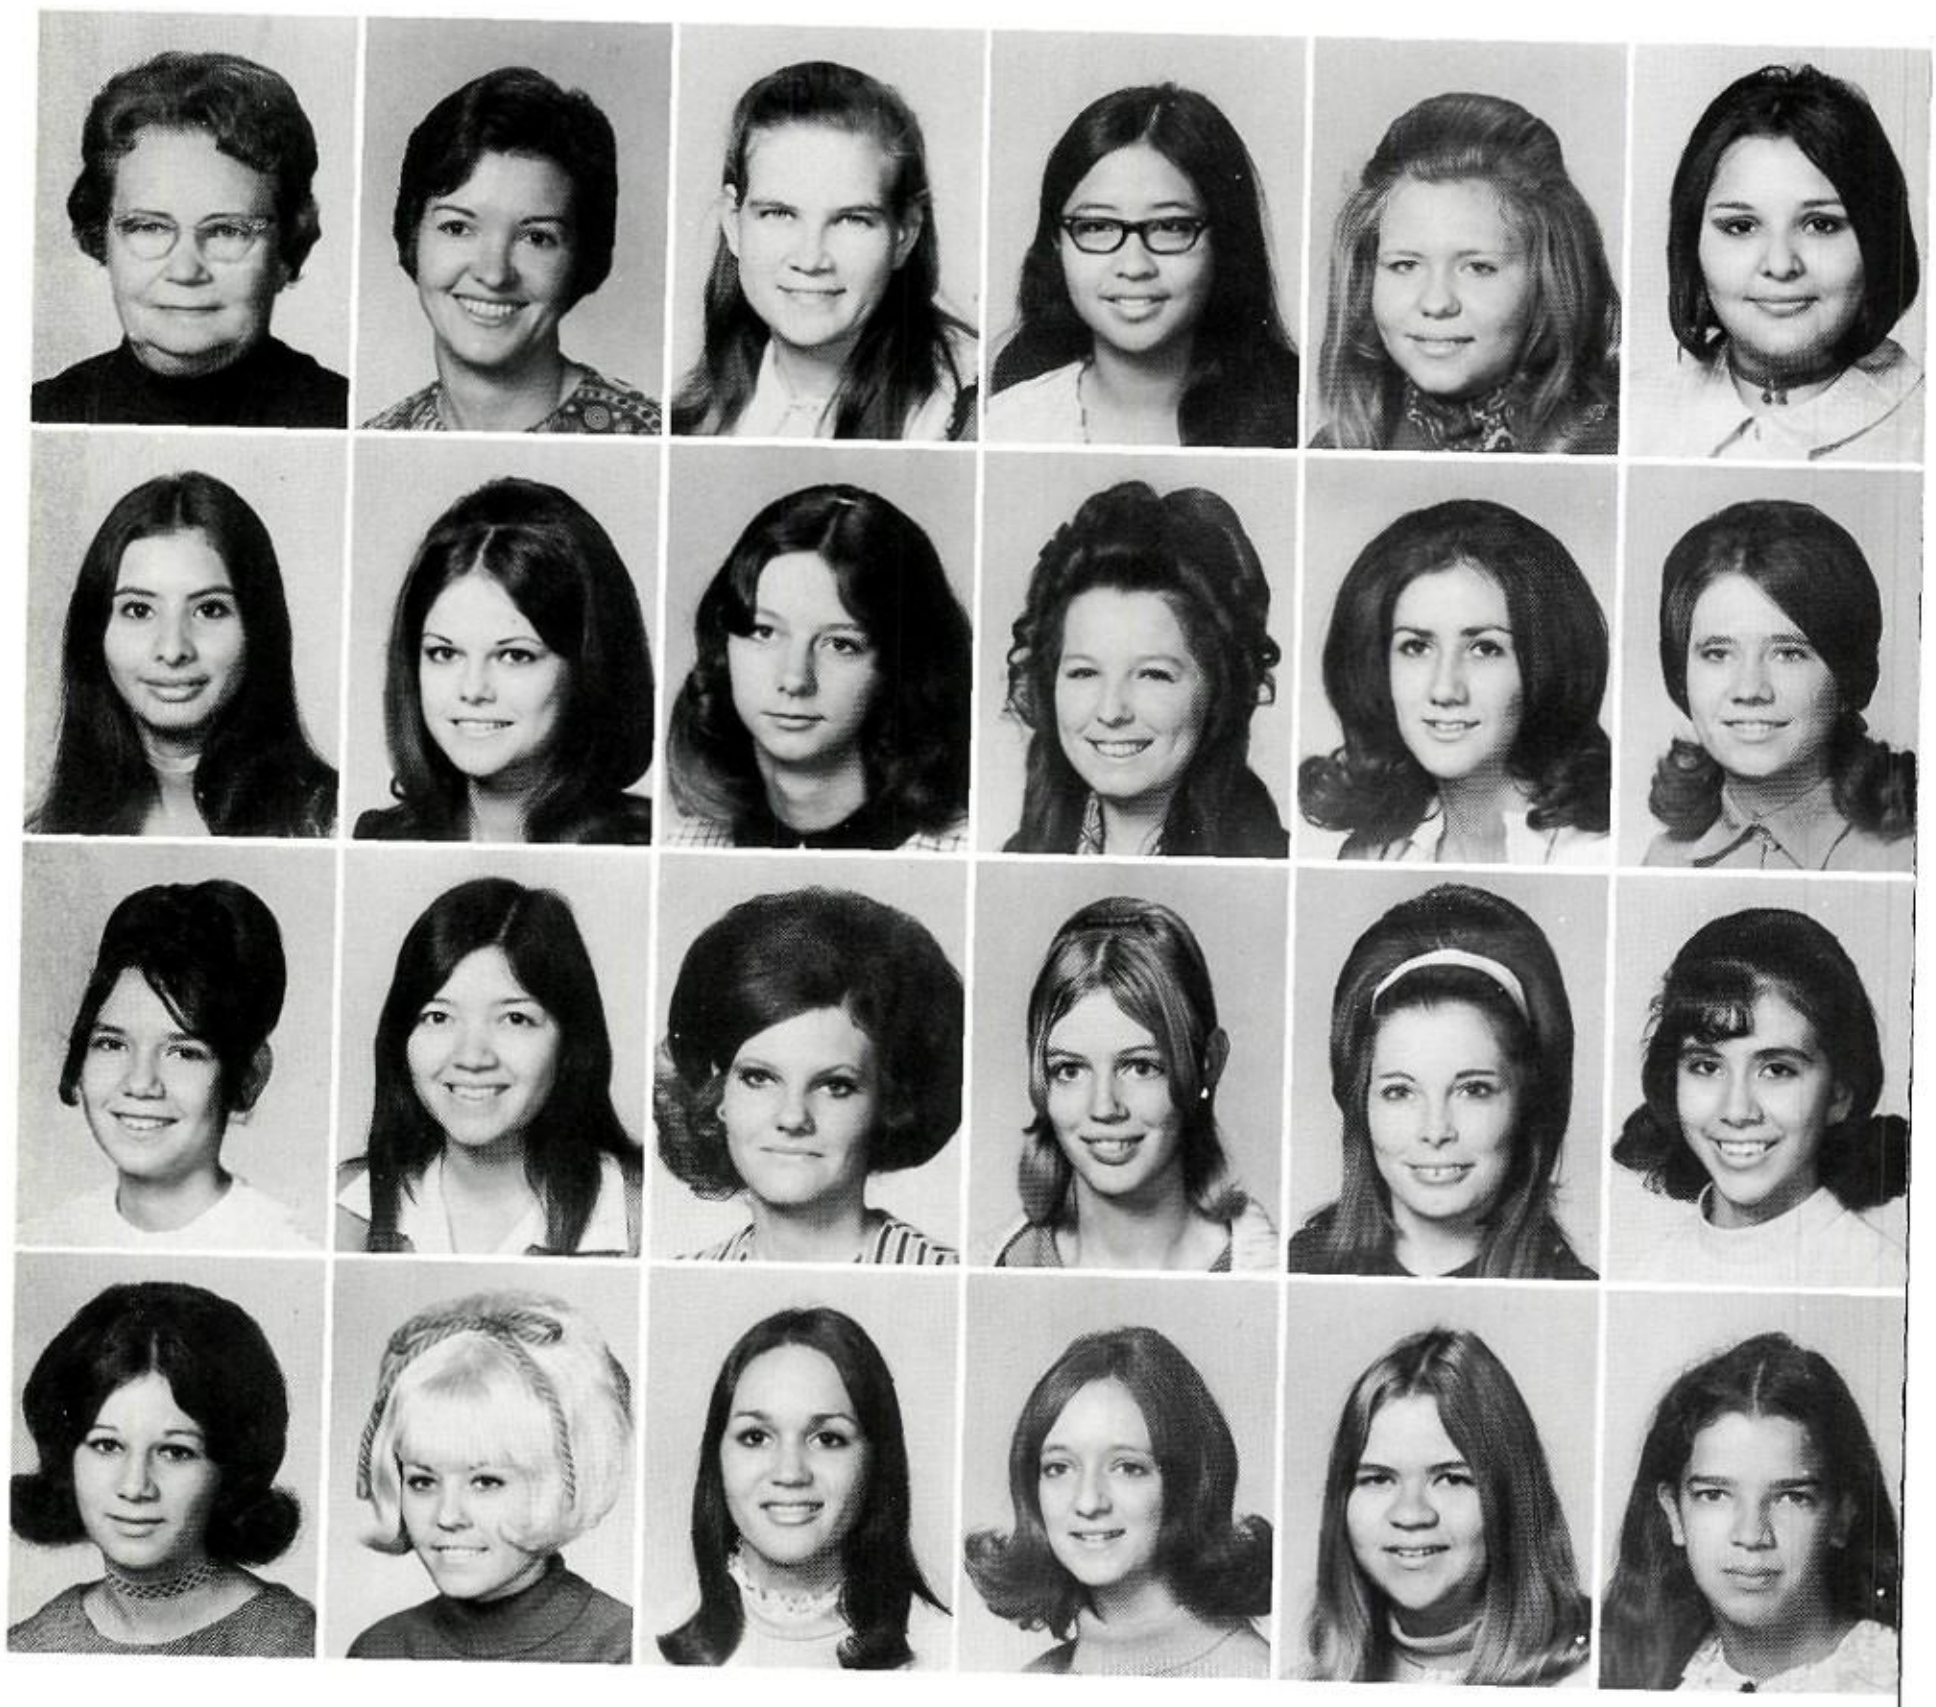
The Road to Homemaker Is Paved With FHA

To make their future homes the happiest places possible is the purpose of the Future Homemakers of America. These girls unite by a common bond; They want to love and be loved by their husbands and families. They have meetings twice a month. Formal activities during the year include a Sweetheart prom, a father-daughter banquet and a mother-daughter bunco party. The 44 members are sponsored by Mrs. Shirley Luna and Mrs. Catherine Russell, both homemaking teachers living what they teach.



Below: Pat Basham and June Snoga, FHA president, model the dresses they made for their entries in the Optimist's club's "Youth In Fashion." June entered the Youth in Fashion-day wear, Pat entered the Youth in Fashion-evening division, and won the first place title.

Le Cercle Français Installs Officers

The French Club installation of officers serves as a big event for the club. The new sponsor of the club is Miss Matilda Delgado. Those receiving offices for the year are: Cindy Malkemus, Cindy Taylor, Mark Weynand, Denise Mansour, Gwen Wilkins, Denise DeJarnette and Michelle Oldfield.

The year of 1970-71 has proven to be the most active year that Le Cercle Francais has ever had. Its calender for the year was booked with money-making projects and activities.

A new project undertaken by the club during football season was a sale of spirit buttons. The large buttons bore the symbol of the fighting cowboy and declared McCollum as the "Home of the Mean Green". The club's activities were climaxed by a banquet at La Louisiane Restaurant.

Through its many activities, Le Cercle Francais members were given a greater insight into the customs and heritage of France.

This year the Vocational Office Education changed their club name to the Future Secretaries Association. Each month secretaries from around the city hold an informative meeting to help the F.S.A. members become efficient secretaries. The club held an informal installation of new officers in September. They toured the City Public Service Board, the IBM Center, San Marcos, and Aquarena Springs. Mums, glitter plaques, and candy were sold to raise money for the F.S.A. Banquet held in May.

The new F.S.A. officers for 1970-71 were presented in an informal candlelight installation held at Brittany Buffet. FTA Members Aim For Future Career Future Teachers of America is an association that gives interested students a better understanding of the fundamentals of teaching. The Teacher Assistant program which has been initiated for the first time this year has proven quite successful. In this program, the student assists the teacher by running errands, helping in the classroom, and keeping things in order. Meetings are held every second and fourth Wednesday of each month where programs are held and club business is carried out. Activities include the state convention, personal teaching experience in elementary schools, and selling stationery for the scholarship fund, which is given to a deserving graduating student at the closing of the year. The most colorful activity is the banquet given at the end of the year, in which officers for the coming year are announced.

Officers are Brenda Lake, historian; Billye Simpson, president; Kathy Hahn, secretary; Rhonda Cuda, vice president; Sandy Machost, parliamentarian; Debra McBride, treasurer.

GAA Wipes Out Faculty and Wipes Up Cars

Each year the girls challenge the women faculty to a volleyball game. The girls gave the teachers encouragement by letting them win the first game, but the teachers were soon put in their places, as the girls came back to win the last two games.

The GAA members wash cars as a money making project. The girls divided up into teams upperclassmen against underclassmen. The losing team, upperclassmen, had to go on a bottle drive for extra money.

NHS . . . Leaders of Tomorrow

The purpose of the McCollum Chapter of the National Honor Society is promoting leadership, encouraging the development of good character, and inspiring the desire to serve. Scholarship is determined by the students grade average. Eligible juniors must have a 92 average for two and a half years. Seniors must uphold a 90 average over a three year period. The activities were a carnation sale at Easter and induction of the new junior and senior members April 6. The banquet was held April 16 at the Holiday House.

Projectionist Club Train to Serve McCollum

Sponsor

SGM. Francis Johnson

Projectionists are boys and girls that are interested in serving their school by helping with the audial and visual equipment. The members serve their purpose by showing films during their study hall periods. They work the lights in the auditorium, show film strips and films in class rooms, operate the overhead projector and record players, prepare and control the sound board in the auditorium, and also work the spotlights.

Red Cross Club Helps Orphans

Mrs. Elda Allen is sponsor of the Red Cross Club. Its purpose is to train the members to help other people. During the 1970-71 school year each member sponsored a child at St. Joseph's Orphanage. They became an older brother or sister to the orphan providing them with treats and gifts on occasions such as their birthday and Christmas.

Other Red Cross activities included a bottle drive and a coffee for the faculty.

Students Learn to Work Together

Mr. Allen Smith is the sponsor of the Refrigeration and Air Conditioning I & II classes. Sixteen students comprise Ref. & A.C. I, while there are nine students in Ref. & A.C. II.

The purpose of the club is to stimulate the member's interests in the vocation of working with appliances such as the ones used in shop. They learn to repair parts of old refrigerators and air-conditioners as well as working in cooperation with others.

Los Charros Aprenden La Cultura de España

"Los Charros," McCollum's Spanish Club, is sponsored by Mrs. Barbara Soto and Miss Emma Diaz. The club is designed to promote the interest and understanding of Spanish and Hispanic American culture. Members are required to be past or present Spanish students. Some activities for the year were a Christmas Fiesta with a touch of Spanish decor, including a pinata, and a Valentine teachers' coffee served with Bunuelos. To climax the year, the annual spring banquet concluded with the announcement of officers for the coming year. Operating expenses for functions are defrayed with club dues and through fund-raising projects which included a mum sale for the Harlandale football game and a spring car wash.

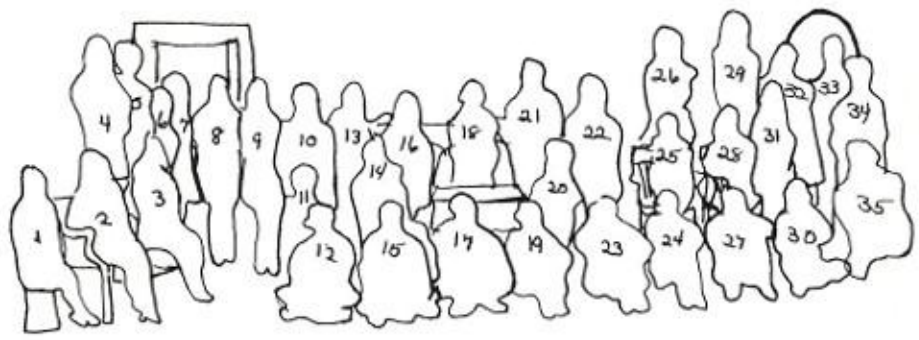
Club Changes Name to Green and Gold Players



The Green and Gold Players got back into the swing of things in September and kept swinging in an attempt to bring culture to the McCollum campus through the medium of drama. The club got off to a big boom with the production of their first play, "Take It From the Beginning," which was a big success. They produced two more plays "A Night of One Act Plays," and the senior play "Curse You, Jack Dalton."

For the very first time in McCollum's history the Green and Gold Players affiliated with International Thespians, an honorary society devoted to the advancement of dramatics.

Not pictured is Melvin Weems, historian. Just as the City Council approaches problems within the city, the Student Council, whose officers are seated here in the City Council Chamber, discuss and try to solve the problems and issues within the school.

The purposes of the Student Council organization is to express student opinion, promote harmonious relationships throughout the school, provide a central office for many school activities, maintain high school morale, and provide a training ground for leaders and followers. The Student Council does just this by keeping an open line of communication with all students, and by hosting many activities on campus.

Tri-C's Ignite Spirit Flame . . .

The Cowboy Corral Cadettes, better known as the Tri-C's, is an organization with many purposes planned to benefit McCollum and each girl individually. Several purposes include the expansion of each members personality to her fullest potential and development of school spirit through participation in school sponsored activities. Some activities attended range from football games in the fall to basketball, volleyball, and baseball games in the spring.

Tri-C's collected for muscular dystrophy, ushered for the A&M Singing Cadettes in the spring, helped with registration at the Convention for Exceptional Children, and brought gifts and canned goods at Christmas for orphans and needy families.

Members attend Tri-C's a regular period during the day for which each girl recieves one high school credit in Physical Education.

Each year the Tri-C's sponsor an all Sports Banquet and the Green and Gold Prom. The results of the newly elected leaders for the following year are announced at that time.

New members are selected in January and May of each year.

VHO: A Shot in the Arm to the Medical Profession

V.H.O., Vocational Health Organization, is a club designed to stimulate its members interests in the medical occupation. It consists of a program in which students work half a day as medical or dental assistants and attend school the other half.

In the spring of each year the club participates in a city-wide and state-wide banquet for the organization.

Mrs. M. Lamm is sponsor of the V.H.O. club.

Top: Students in the V.H.O. morning classes are Judy Cowey, Mary Morales, Barry McDonald, Rosalinda Liserio, Lura Bucannon, Rebecca Onofre, Steven Hester, Joe Ramon, and Johnny Gomez. The Rustlers for 70-71

Rustlers Get Spirit Fever

The year started off with a real bang with the forming of a new club called the Rustlers. This club is composed of both boys and girls from 9th, 10th, 11th, and 12th grades whose purpose is to help promote that booming McCollum spirit. They are seen at every game cheering the team on to certain victory.

Sponsors and class leaders for 70-71 are FRONT: Virginia Almendarez, Elsa Calderon, Lupe Graf, and Emma Tapia. BACK: Mrs. Molly Bailey, Mrs. Andy Wilson, Mrs. Carol Ann Brown and Mr. Robert Gohlson.

I pledge allegiance to my Flag and (to) the Republic for which it stands—one Nation indivisible—with liberty and justice for all.

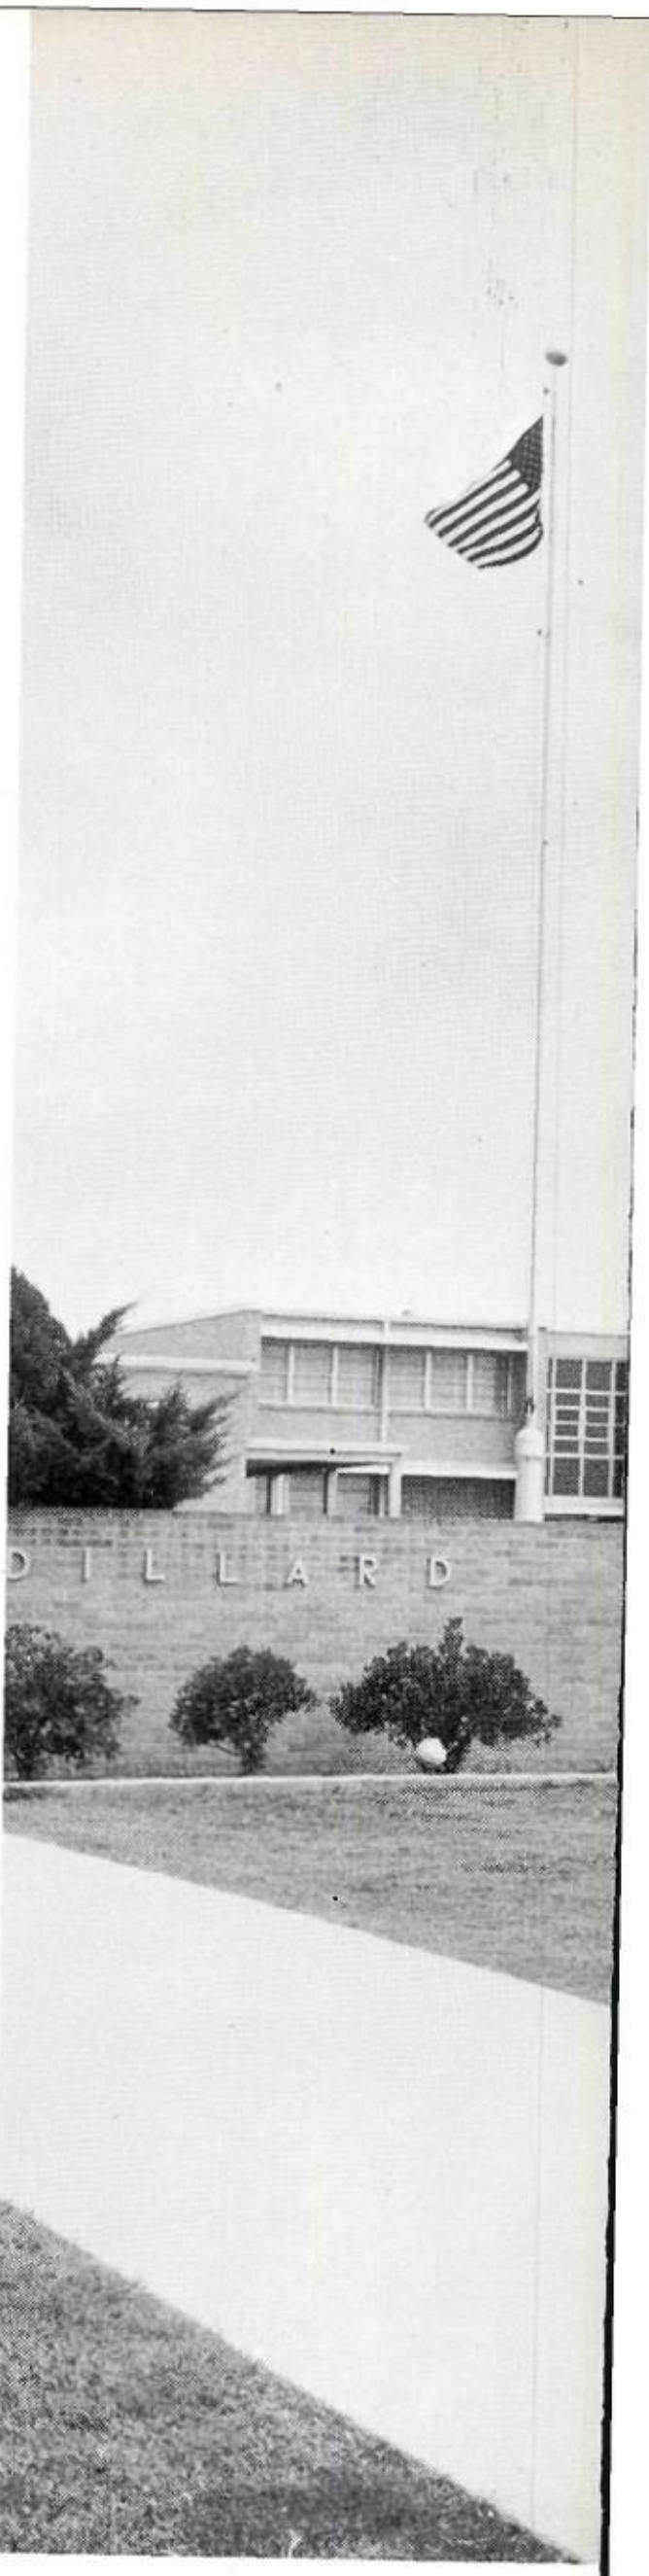
FRANCIS BELLAMY · 1892



The National Bellamy Award is presented annually to one outstanding public high school from a different state each year. In 1971 the state is Texas and the school is McCollum.

Fifty years will pass before another school in this state will be so honored.

The Bellamy Award, a large outdoor flag, honors the memory of Francis Bellamy, author of the Pledge of Allegiance. It is given to help broaden and deepen the meaning of the words of the pledge so that America can become "one nation indivisible with liberty and justice for all."

The selection of McCollum was based on a study of its curriculum, the quality of its administrators and faculty, the performance of its present student body and graduates, the quality of its school publications and the evidence of a healthy emphasis on good citizenship. Youthfulness was the criteria theme this year and McCollum becomes the youngest school to join the ranks of Bellamy standard-bearers.

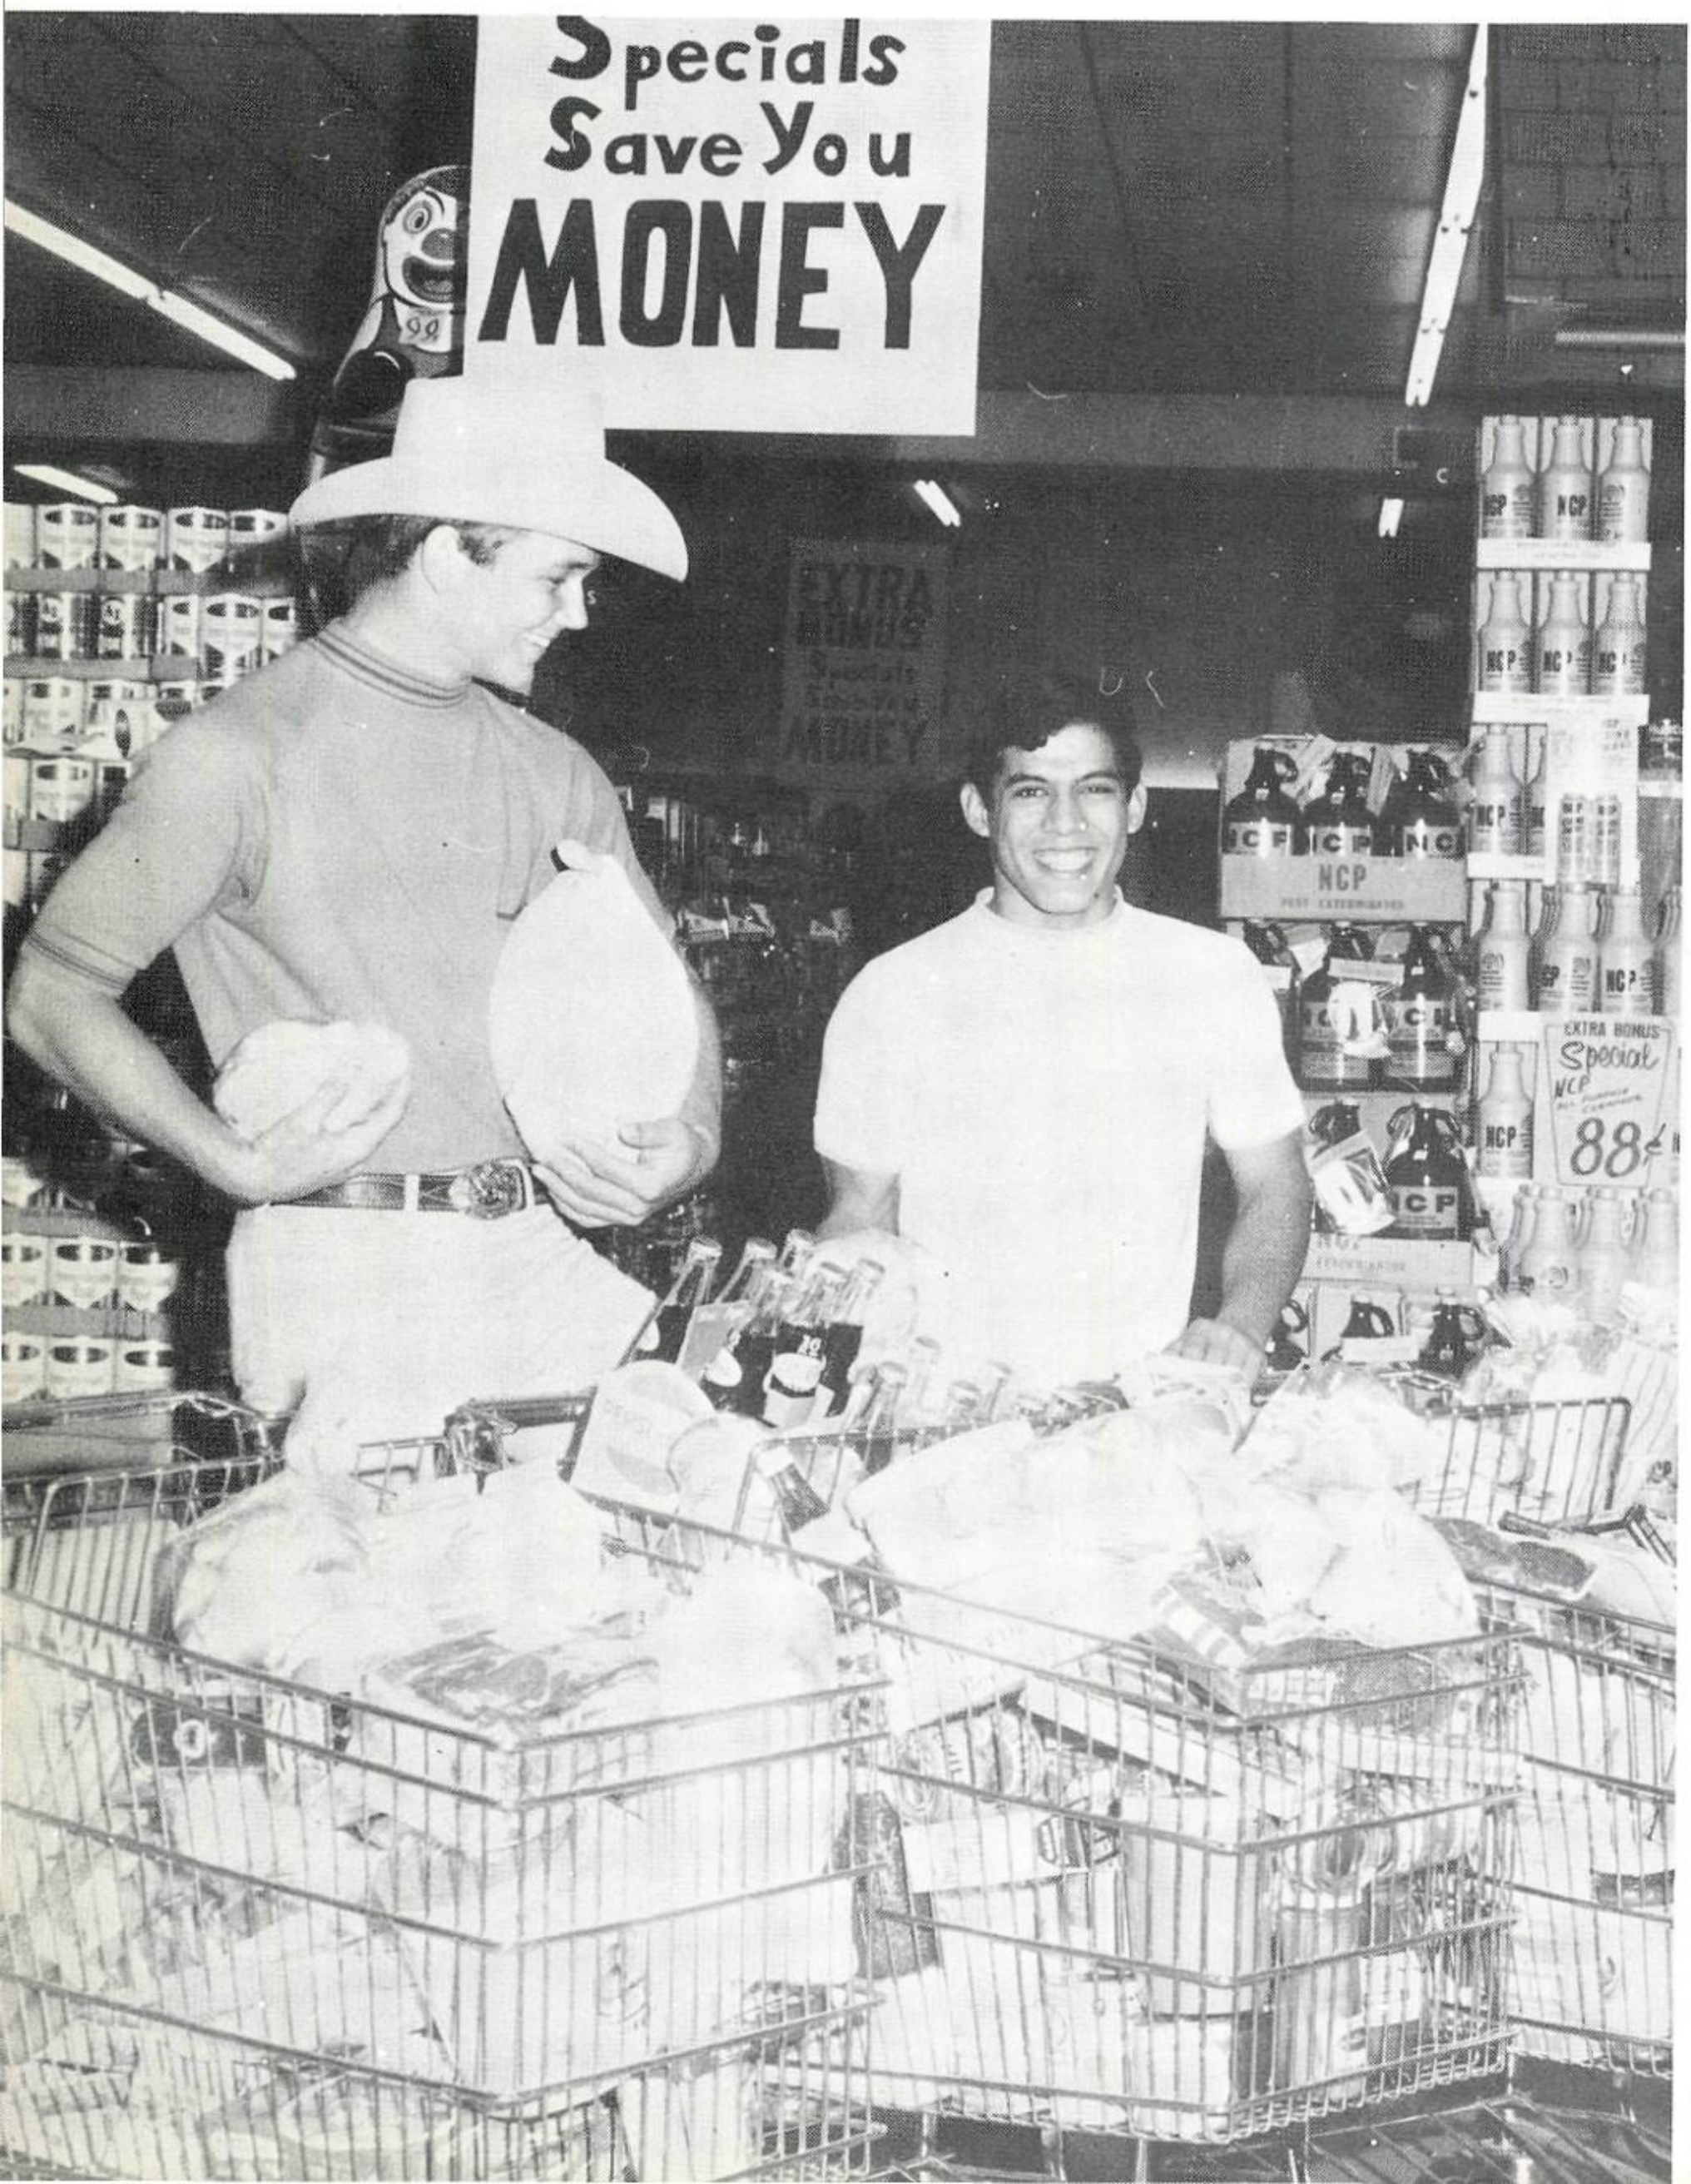
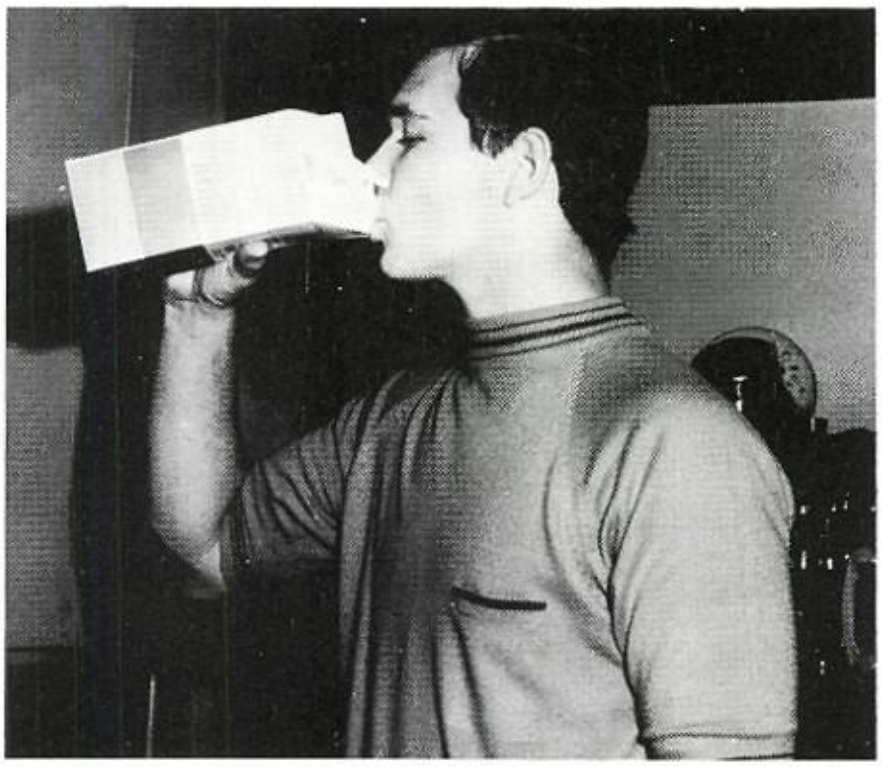
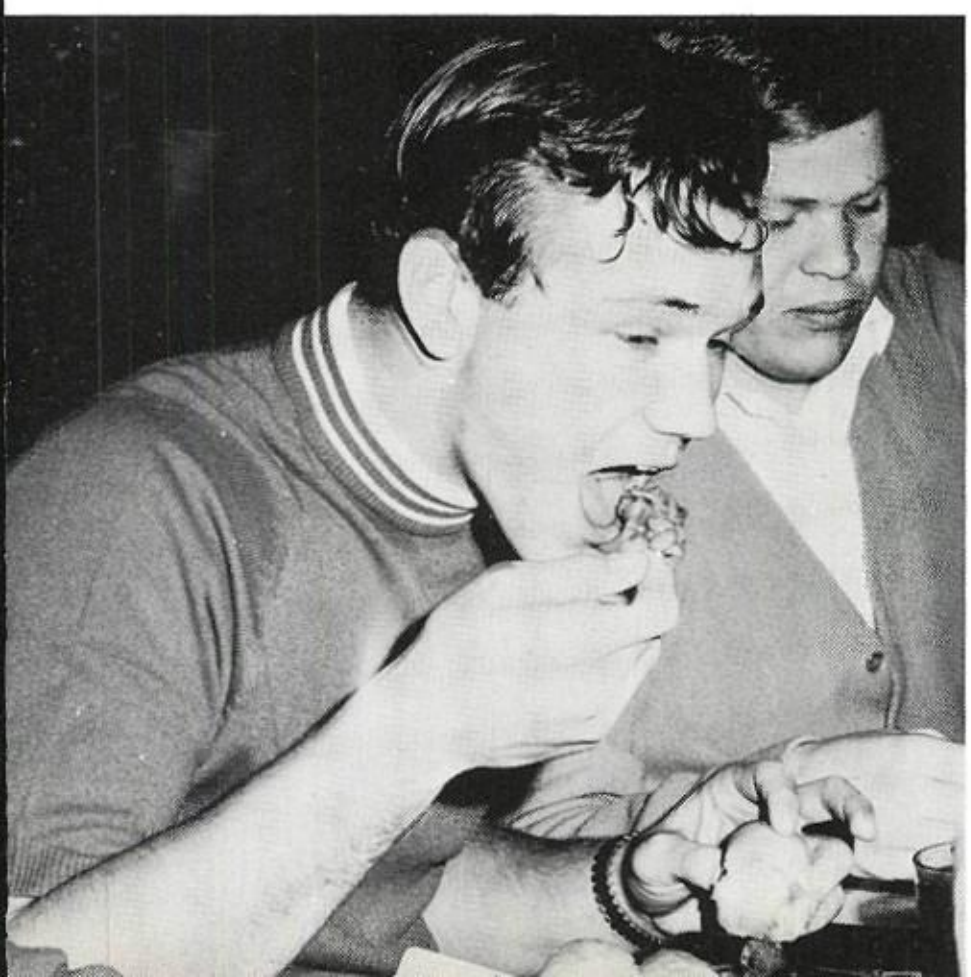
How Do You Feed a Cowboy?







In order to be physically healthy and fit for football season, the cowboy absorbs an unusual amount of food. One such cowboy is Fred Shussler who weighs 218 pounds. According to Fred's mother the grocery buying for one week is somewhat of a problem. On the whole Mrs. Shussler spends $16.00 a week on just Fred alone.

Although it takes a strenuous effort to feed a growing boy, Mrs. Shussler does have moments of sheer amusement. One evening as she was barbecuing several steaks for Fred and the other two members in her family, the next-door neighbor asked how many people were coming to the party she was throwing. She commented that the steaks were just for the family. By the way Fred did eat most of the steak.

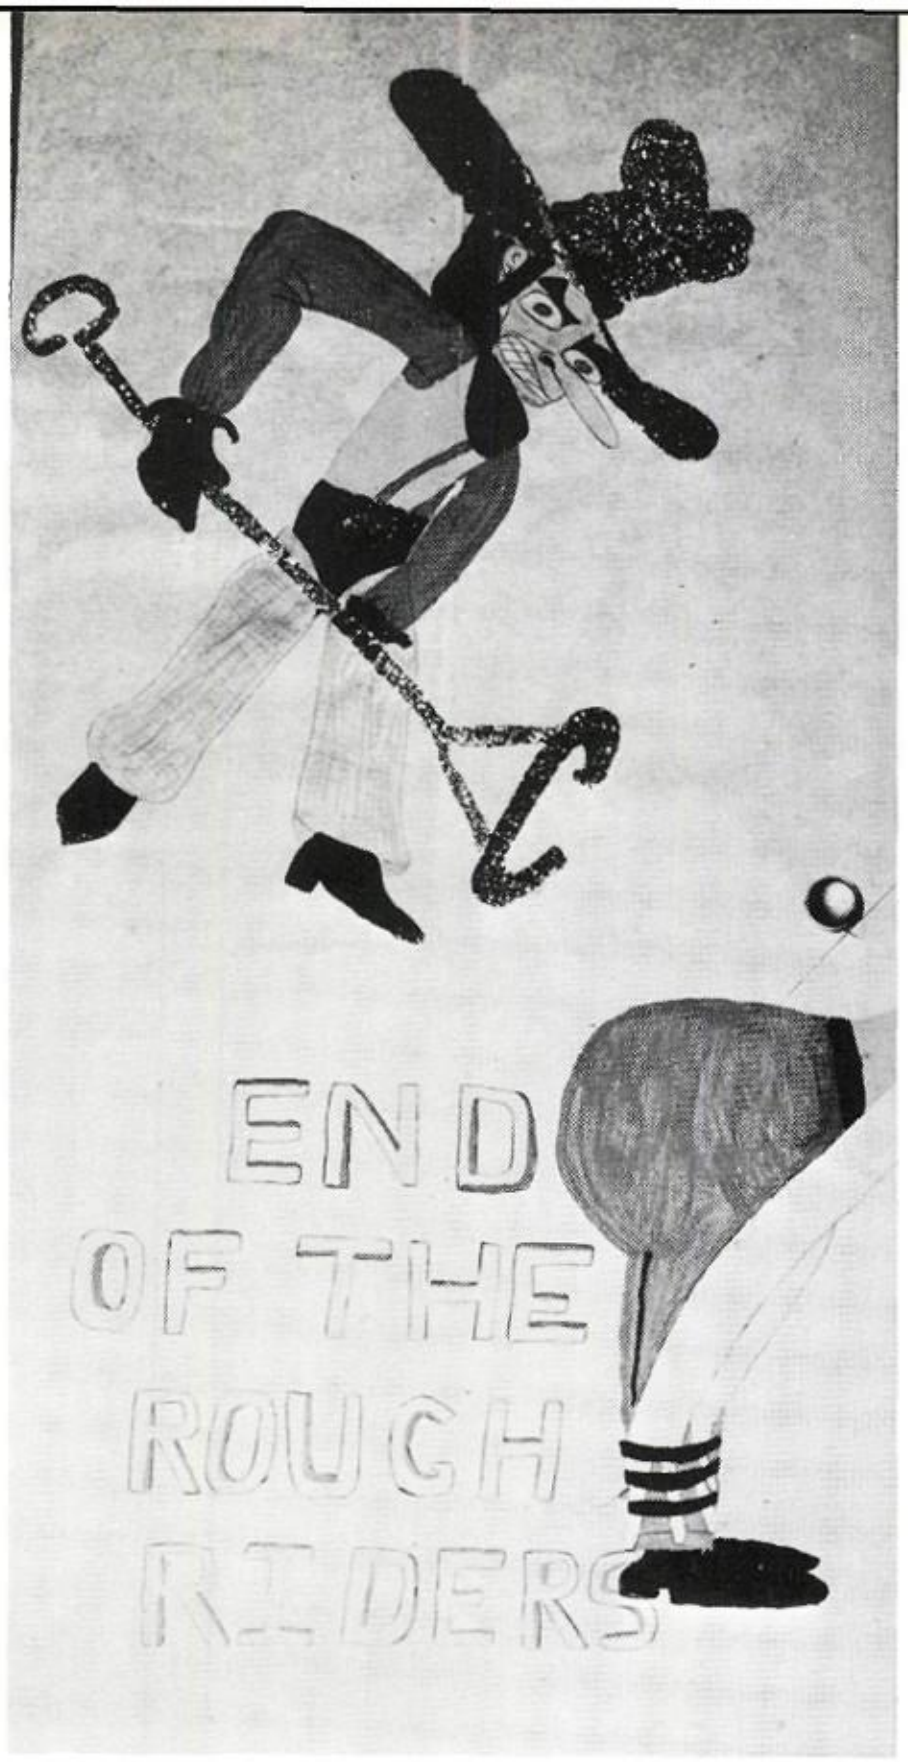
It's the Real Thing—
Cowboy Spirit

Spirit comes in many sizes, shapes, and colors. As shown on the McCollum campus, it is a way of life for everyone. Beginning with a before-game pep rally, spirit continues through each game to stir the sentiments of the spectators. This year the feeling of spirit in everyone surpassed its limits. As the Cowboys strove for a state title in football, a candle, guarded by the faithful R.O.T.C., glowed. Even though it had to be doused after the McCollum-Roosevelt game, spirit itself was not.



Right: Door decorations help boost the Fighting Cowboys' spirit during the week of the McCollum-Roosevelt game. Below: Majorette, Debbie Tomblin, twirls to "the Horse" at the Harlandale pep rally. Bottom right: senior cheerleader, Laura Benavides, displays her spirit as she participates in the "Fight Song". Cowboy Spirit Shines With the Sun at 7:45

"Hey look us over give us a cheer, we're from McCollum and we're glad we're here . . ." Pep rallies–a day when the Cowboy student body gets up thirty minutes earlier to wish the Fighting Cowboys on to victory. A time to laugh–to yell at the top of your lungs . . ." V-I-C-T-O-R-Y is the Cowboys' battle cry." Pep rallies are always fun times, but sometimes they are also a sad time–the last pep rally is always sad for Seniors. For them this signifies the end of something great. It is a time to look back and recollect everything that has happened while you were here . . . "For your spirit and your pride, we will remember you, . . ." "Yeah green, Yeah gold–Yeah green and gold–fight–fight–fight!" Cowboyland home of the fighting, Mean Green. "Of our fame and glory and loyalty the world will always sing, Hey, McCollum here's to you."

Santa Claus Rides Again

"Jingle bells, jingle bells, jingle all the way . . ." Do you have Christmas Spirit? Try: decorating the house with lights, stuffing a stocking to the top with goodies, making cookies and candy, sending food to needy families, purchasing a gift for a dear friend, driving around looking at the decorations of homes and the city, giving gifts to children in orphanages, sending cards to everyone (even those you don't like very much), putting up a display of the town of Bethlehem, playing Santa Claus on the telephone while calling children, going to talk to Santa Claus, driving around the n e i g h b o r h o o d caroling. "Silent night, Holy night . . ."

A Time to Remember . . .

Did You Ever Get Up on the Wrong Side of the Bed and . . .

Have you ever felt as though you got up on the wrong side of the bed?—Millions of things can go wrong throughout a day . . . you walk down the hall and drop your books or purse . . . almost run over your best friend . . . are caught chewing gum in your first period class and later in your second period class . . . attempt getting away with talking and find the instructor is a better master at catching you . . . spill your tea in your tray at lunch . . . are caught cutting in the lunch line . . . decide to end the day early by sleeping in your sixth period class, but find the teacher wide awake . . . or . . . you're a teacher and find you can't get a point across to the students . . . drop the eraser during a lecture . . . find your graph board tumbling onto your head . . . All of this can happen and much more . . . it's all a part of life!

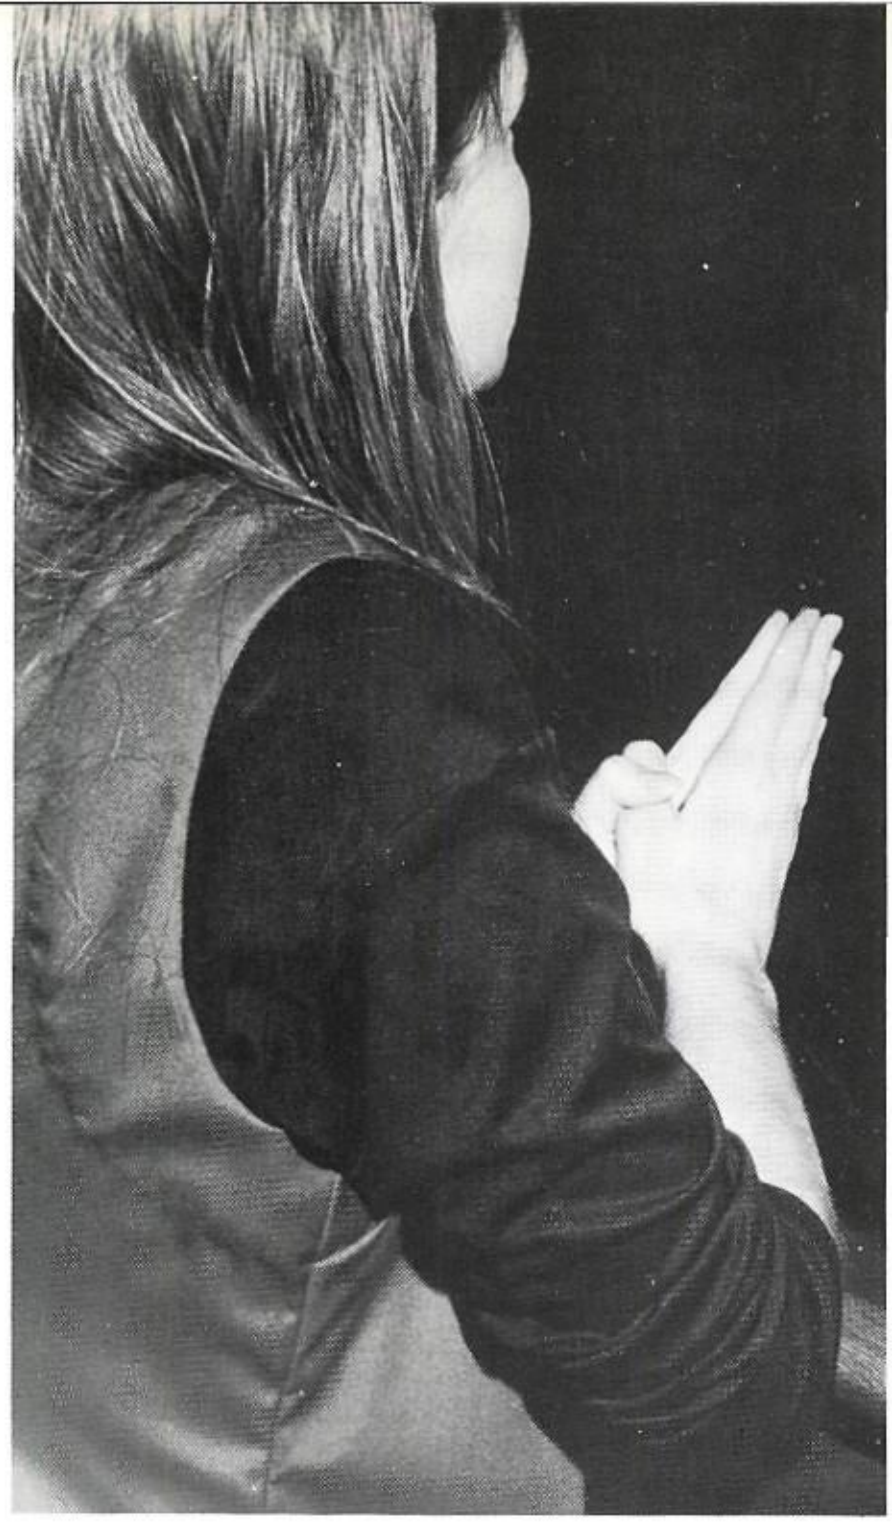
There's No World Without Love

The world's not a great big candy store anymore—but love can make it seem so. Love can happen on Saturday night or Tuesday morning or Sunday afternoon at 4:00. It can happen when you meet the girl of your dreams and she's perfect and it turns out she's not anything like what you thought you wanted before you met her. Love can be 6 foot 2 with eyes of blue and a car to match or a little on the short side with no wheels at all.

Love can be a good buddy. It can be your parents. It can be in rare instances, your little brother. Love can be found at altars and at parades when the flag goes by. It can affect the way you treat animals, children, and your fellow man. Love is . . .



Right: A lonely person who prays will always have companionship within God's love. Assemblies Provide Entertainment

Students look forward to entertaining assemblies held throughout the school year. The various assemblies provide a welcome break during a hectic school day. Ranging anywhere from trampoline artists to a boy's fashion show, they attract many curious spectators. They are usually paid assemblies. However, occasional programs are presented to the student body free of charge.

The Pains of Being a Girl

"Oh, my hair won't do anything!" A day in the life of a girl can be very hectic! Girls are involved with applying make-up bases, splashing on a touch of blush to redden their cheeks, and putting on a touch of lipstick. The application of eyeliner, mascara, and false eyelashes is very tedious. Rolling their hair, teasing it, and combing out the knots are required to style their hair. Styling wigs, falls, other hairpieces, and their own hair requires great skill.

Top: Brushing in the sun lavishes one's hair. Theresa Buys brushes her hair in the sun so it will shine. Bottom: Debbie Smith rolls her hair before going out on a date. Opposite: Melissa Slocum decides to change her hair style with a wig when she discovers her own locks won't do anything.

Tests: Terror and Triumph

Have you ever thought how much work it really takes to prepare for an exam? First, you have to make sure you have all your notes and papers ready. Then looking at each fact you tell yourself that somehow you must remember it.

Many students cannot study unless they are blasted out with psychedelic music, talking to a friend, watching television, or just sneaking in a few moments in Study Hall.

Seniorhood: A New Beginning

Senior Banquet . . . Senior Honors Night . . . Graduation . . . All these are steps on the way to accomplishment of a lifetime goal. Seniorhood carries with it many rewards and dreams but also a lot of serious thinking. Graduation symbolizes the end of 12 years of work, but the beginning of being an adult. All the memories forever etched in your mind will never fade away or change, but a life will. Senior Banquet . . . Honors Night . . . Graduation . . . only mean the beginning of a beginning.

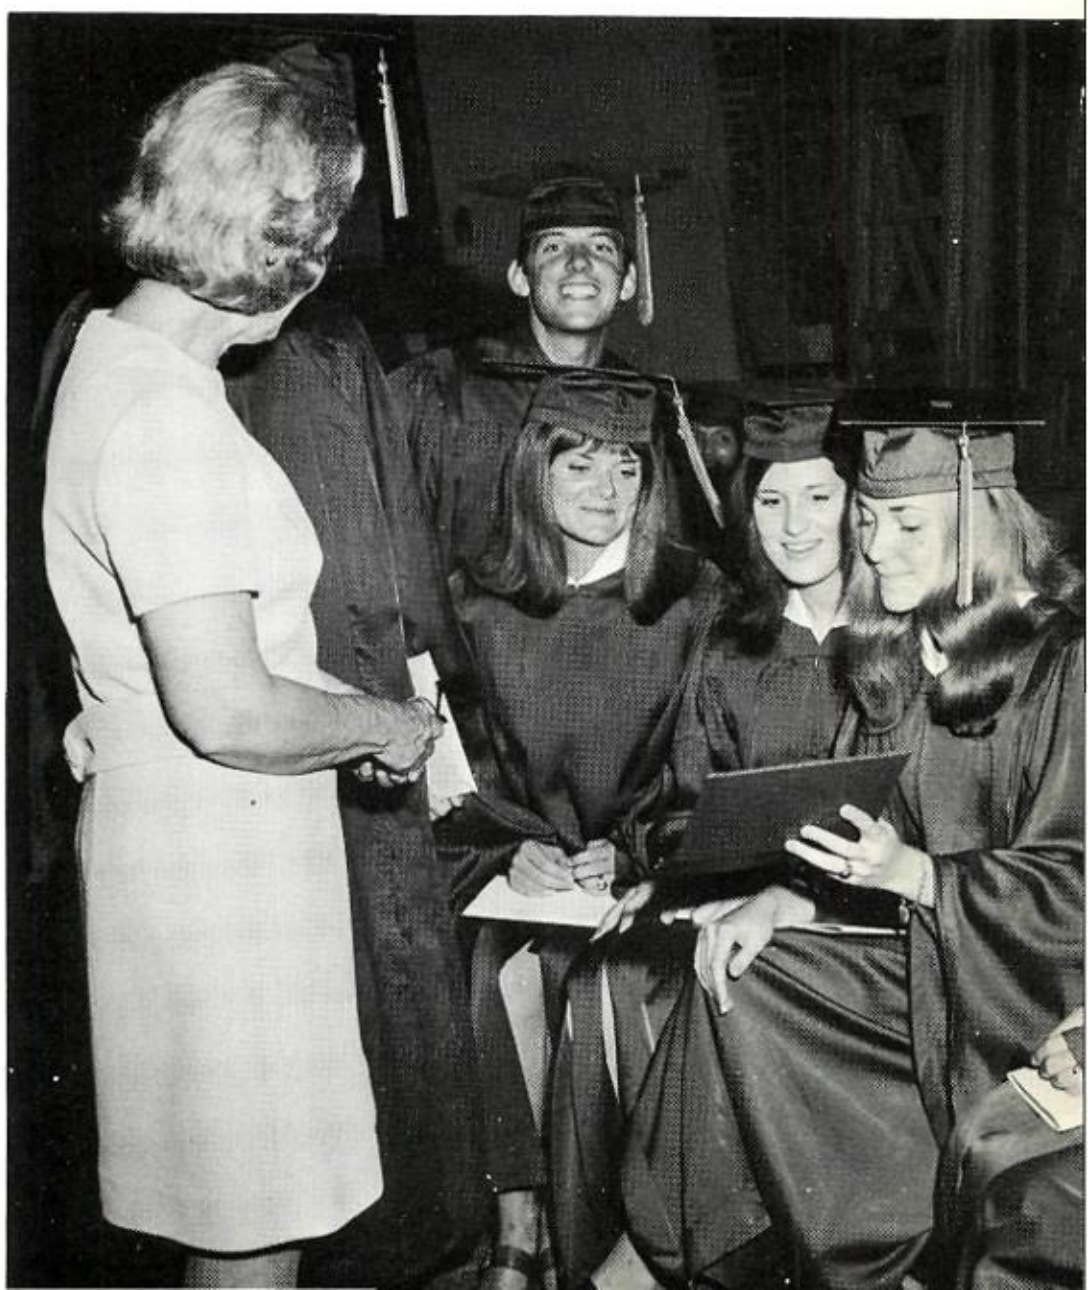
Mrs. Lura Myer congratulates seniors on graduation night.



WHERE WAS YOUR HEAD IN '71...

It wasn't in a cloud . . . we were all going in circles and really rolling . . . we beamed at McCollum's winning the Bellamy award . . . attended football games and cheered the "Mean Green" on to district champs . . . decorated our doors for spirit week . . . took diptheria shots and the oral polio vaccine . . . picked up our senior rings or wished we had one . . . gave encouragement to the basketball team . . . sang along with the Carpenters' "We've Only Just Begun" . . . saw a walk-out caused by student dissention on the dress code result in a city wide study of school codes by a student committee . . . voted yes by a solid majority, 1467 to 61, on the committee's recommendation to keep dress rules strict and to add campus improvements . . . rejoiced at the decision for the eighteen year old vote . . . signed POW petitions . . . screamed when UT lost to Notre Dame . . . wore midis, maxis, minis and hot pants (but not to class) . . . attended concerts of Elton John, Three Dog Night, Guess Who, Fifth Dimension, Johnny Bush, Grand Ole Opry, and countless others . . . shed tears when the Dallas Cowboys lost in the Super Bowl . . . heard ecology become a word in everyone's vocabulary . . . watched women's lib strengthen . . . saw Spiro Agnew aim golf balls, tennis balls and anything else at innocent bystanders . . . roared at the Womanless Wedding . . . prayed for the safe return of the moon astronauts . . . lost the King and Queen of acid rock . . . Jimi Hendrix and Janis Joplin . . . snickered at Mr. Reyna when he fell off his motor bike . . . watched cigarette commericals go up in smoke . . . had our pictures made for ID cards . . . sobbed our hearts out over LOVE STORY . . . gloated over the double win of the "On the Spot" team . . . hoped for an end to the Viet Nam War . . . walked to school on Earth Day II . . . read THE GREENING OF AMERICA . . . experienced the different sides to the war in PATTON and M*A*S*H* . . . saw George C. Scott win an Oscar and refuse it . . . cried at the Green and Gold Prom . . . laughed at the seniors' production of "Curse You Jack Dalton" . . . attended all night parties after graduation then stumbled to the senior picnic the next day . . . or, as underclassmen, attended all night parties and tried to take finals the next day . . . and filled our minds and busied our bodies with much, much more . . .

Opposite top left: Delores Manning, Leslie Kennan, Henry Ridgeway do their bit for ecology by picking up trash from the school campus. Opposite top right: Janie Hoffman gives a violent reaction to receiving her diphtheria shot. The massive immunization was to stop the spread of a diphtheria epidemic which started during the summer of 1970. Opposite bottom left: Mrs. Ann Dalton, Jennine Moore, Tommy Lothringer, Gary Marshall work on flats for the Senior play, "Curse You, Jack Dalton." Above: Brenda Dementer gets a helping hand from Bobby Hamilton as she prepares to "spring clean" her locker. Opposite bottom right: Mr. Al Reyna displays his wounds after being tossed from a motor cycle.

Dear Annie,
Forever
Ann

To Annie, '45

The best manager I've ever had. Stay nice and sweet. Good Luck in college.

Mary Jane

Annie,

Well, were already seniors & it doesn't seem like we've finished being freshman. Don't ever forget all the cool times we've had in Red Cross. Keep up that great personality. Good Luck.

Love,
Gloria
